I've been using my phone's hotspot up until now. Was getting roughly .70 up and down.

Korvo - February 16, 2017, 8:48 am

Looks like some very nice speeds. I only get like 100mbps down and not even sure on the up speeds, but it's good enough for me at the time.

?????s? - February 16, 2017, 8:49 am

I'm at work and we are getting 94 Mbps download with TWC

?eptic - February 16, 2017, 8:53 am

I got it through a local company. Never heard of them before.
The dude that was installing it thought I was crazy. He was telling me about how he has 100mb down and his kids can "play games live and talk to people"
Then he saw all my computers, consoles, and networking shit Imfao

I have a plex server with a lot of movies and anime on it. :P
Got a few TBs of external storage.
Got so many devices in my house that i'm using a Cisco Catalyst network switch for it all.
All in all my current setup looks like shit. But i'm racking up some cash and plan on re modelling my whole room and getting a server rack and all sorts of shit.

was thinking about getting fiber for a while but I researched it and it's not available where I live.

Youtube Comments - February 16, 2017, 2:06 pm

You are so god damn lucky lol

Bluffer - February 16, 2017, 2:07 pm

I would murder people to get that speed of internet.

Malthael - February 16, 2017, 2:07 pm

Damn that's dope OP! I only get about ~50 Mbps :((

Knucklez. - February 16, 2017, 2:09 pm

pretty impressive, this right here might get you laid

F?cgle?? - February 16, 2017, 2:09 pm

Aren't you going to be bottle-necked in most cases? Just because you have the speed to download that fast doesn't mean all of the servers you're accessing do.

Either way, that's some fast fucking internet. How much do you pay?

JustAnotherRandomDude - February 16, 2017, 2:12 pm

And to think I thought upgrading to cable internet was an improvement...

Fiber - February 16, 2017, 3:44 pm

You are welcome good sir.

Omniscient - February 16, 2017, 3:47 pm

Anything over 50Gbps is practically a waste. Sites don't even serve you content that fast. Streaming is not improved at all. Gaming should be about the same. Most game lag is from the server end.

(Feb 16, 2017 04:47 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Anything over 50Gbps is practically a waste.

I am pretty sure you meant MBps instead of GB.

Fun fact, It has been reported that NASA has an internet speed record of 90GBps and up.

As Omniscient said, the high speeds are not really necessary for your average client computer usage, though it's always nice to have for when you've got a lot of people using the same connection.

I was able to download 4gbs worth of files in less than 5 minutes so.

$170/mo

I would agree with you but I have quite a bunch of people on my network and we are almost always downloading things/torrenting/streaming/gaming.

We were good with 600mbps but anything below that and everyone would start hitting lag and downloads would slow down.

Read above :P

Anyone know of a router that's capable of putting out high speed wifi? The one they supplied me with only puts out roughly 50mbps.

Sywren - February 16, 2017, 4:19 pm

You have a nice download speed, But your upload speed sucks for having fiber, Also 170$ a month Jezus..

Damn. I mean I don't really need the upload. I need the download. But still that's a hell of a lot cheaper than mine.

For 60 euros a month i can get 1Gbps up and 1Gbps down for 20 euros more. (Or that will be available soon)

Was thinking the same, most sites places a limit on how fast you can download so it's basically useless, torrents will be fast as hell tho
