What kind of mousepad do you guys use, and what mousepad do you advice? Looking for one around $20, with a max of $40 (but most likely not going to spend this kind of money of a mousepad lol). I'll be using it for gaming.

Magna imperium - February 19, 2017, 9:46 am

I've got two.

Spoiler (Click to View)

The second one must be on your budget, i recommend it, however i do not use the first one that much.

The second one is great x)

Royal Mint - February 19, 2017, 9:48 am

I've got the Razer Firefly which arrived today actually and I use some cloth mouse mat to put my keyboard on that I found from Amazon.

Edit: just realised that you were running on a budget, my bad.

Larsenpower - February 19, 2017, 9:48 am

Using a Razer Destructor 2. Nothing special or fancy

Maradonnie - February 19, 2017, 9:57 am

I'll look into some Razor mousepads, even if they are above my budget.

How are the QcK mousepads and Roccat mousepads?

Kayoz - February 19, 2017, 10:01 am

I got one called "Arrogant Bastard" because I liked the name, it's a good size and most mouse mats are the same quality wise anyways.

Also this one is $15 in Sweden.

I use a Steelseries QcK. I've had it for a few weeks now and it has performed exactly as you would expect a mouse pad to.

Would recommend, especially if you are on a budget.

I've been using one of the larger QcK mousepads for about two years and it's great. Easy as fuck to clean and quite discrete; it doesn't look like a lame ass "gamer" mousepad.

exosquid - February 19, 2017, 11:10 am

I also use a Steelseries QcK Heavy, the biggest version possible. It's awesome and have used it for around 6 months now. And as Levi said, it's just plain black with a small logo on the corner. Looks really sleek. No glowing leds or any other useless crap itstwochainz - February 19, 2017, 11:18 am

I am currently using the Steelseries QcK+. It's a pretty nice mousepad. I would recommend it, good size and traction and it's pretty cheap.

Vishnu™ - February 27, 2017, 8:18 pm

I have Steelseries QcK right now (10$), and have also ordered QcK Heavy($25.71$) from amazon. go for it ;) QcK heavy oRequiem - February 27, 2017, 8:35 pm

I use the Razer Firefly since I'm in love with stuff that lights up in different colors that I can customize.

It gets the job done and it's pretty large.

Cute - February 27, 2017, 8:47 pm

I just use a plain black one lol.

works fine for me, w/ games and everything else.

Dabby Duck - February 27, 2017, 9:15 pm

i just use a $1 custom mousepad, been using it for like 3 years now lol i dont need no fancy shit

thrudda - February 27, 2017, 9:47 pm

Using a Razer Goliathus mousepad, previously used a steel series but it was worn out oscadvert - February 27, 2017, 11:15 pm

corsair and libbit are good quality. go for them.but pricey but worth thatoneguy101 - February 27, 2017, 11:31 pm

store (dot) bethsoft (dot) com/fallout-4-garage-steelseries-qck-mousepad I use that thing. It is bloody brilliant. I love it.

Riggs - February 27, 2017, 11:47 pm

I still use my glass Icemat (1st edition) circa 2003.

BR?ND?N - February 28, 2017, 12:09 am

I use some cheapy $5 one that has an American flag printed on it. It does the job.

2077 - February 28, 2017, 12:15 am

Steelseries qck, shit lasted through everything and feels still good henry - February 28, 2017, 12:19 am

In the past I have used the steelseries heavy and qck, artisan hayate and shidenkai currently I use steelseries 9hd

Slightly. - February 28, 2017, 12:42 am

I have a Logitech G640 mousepad. Can highly recommend it. ?

Egregious Jr. - February 28, 2017, 5:45 pm

I have one of those 99 cent mousepads from artscow, they're dope.

kloppin-2 - February 28, 2017, 5:52 pm

I use a TekMat gun cleaning mat because it is much cheaper than a mouse pad of that size and it has some interesting design to it.

Might wanna upgrade to the Evo Desk ;D

webdev77 - March 1, 2017, 7:19 am

I want this:

This goes for $15 on occasion.

Currently have a logitech something or other that's about 11x14".

Apocryphon - March 1, 2017, 7:45 am

I don't use a mousepad for the last 6 months since I'm mostly in bed and the laptop is next to me.

Nope, this was my old desk which was from Ikea:

I recently relocated back and forth between several locations, so my new desk, albeit longer, is a lot more lightweight and mobile. It's just some L-shaped desk I found online.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

I actually ended up buying two and fitting them together so I can work in tandem with my colleague when he comes over.
