Thread: Me! First Vector Art!

handlarn - February 20, 2017, 6:52 pm

Hello! I recently watched a few guides on how to make vector art, It seemed like alot of fun to me; A person who never ever thought he would make anything "sketched" whatsoever, but here I am!

I chose this one picture of me which doesnt have the best of quality, but it was good enough...

Well here we go:

ART: (got a little spoiled while compressing it to a smaller resolution. original link: i.imgur.com/wEge1di.png)

It looks nice but something about the cheeks seems off. Maybe they are too low? I can't put my finger on it .

It's based of a pic of me;

Unless you have no nostrils the nose is very off. Where is your chin? Some of the lines are overlapping. A sheen on the glasses would've added some depth as well and some of the areas of shading I feel are strong. I'm working on a lot of these areas myself in vector portraits so keep up man this is a very good start.

All in all, keep up the good work.

A lot of us gave you advice, but it's not that bad. Honestly, this is better than most of us could pull off.

Keep it up and you'll be blowing us away in no time.

That comment was really something else. Thanks for that! ?

As said; It's not my main "expertise" (in lack of a better word) within photodesign whatsoever.

Thanks to everyone for leaving legit feedback (and not so thanks for the nightmare comment lmao (no hard feelings))
