Thread: Dox'd someone; Extremely happy and satisfied.

HeyBuddy - February 22, 2017, 3:23 pm

This quote from my service says enough; im so happy i was able to help. I've even printed this out and framed it on my wall. Honestly one of my most successful cases.

(Feb 22, 2017 03:43 PM)allonon Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hello,

I have no words. I have no way to express the gratitude I have for this man. I sent money, but it won't ever be enough for what he has given me.

Just to set the scene about a year ago the fraternal grandmother of my son ( fiancée's son ) began making accusations of drug abuse in our home. She had no way to prove it. On October 26th we were contacted by CPS and asked to come and take drug tests. We went over right away and submitted out samples with ZERO hesitation. Our entire family including our son tested positive for heroin. We had no excuse. It was there in our system and we had no clue how to explain it.

Our son was taken from us. We've been non stop harassed by this lady. She was non stop, showing up at court dates spreading and making up lies just to see us squirm under her finger.

Yesterday HeyBuddy found me on Skype and asked me a couple of questions about what I was trying to accomplish. I gave him little information and most of it turns out wasn't even correct. Within MINUTES he provided me with new cell phone numbers, addresses, emails, icloud, PORN logins, PHOTOS, and most importantly TEXT MESSAGES and EMAILS of this lady fabricating lies about us, and conspiring with other people to make them come true. The most disturbing were day old emails that contained our address and information sent out to private detectives. I have spent the entire day printing documents. So many documents in fact I just returned from Office Depot with a 3 pack of printer cartridiges.

This man helped get me the information I need to see my son again. To have him come home. For him to be with us once more. Before yesterday I had given up hope completely. Our court dates were awful, she always showed up just to aggravate us. I now have proof that she put trace amounts of HEROIN in a few snacks that she sent home with our son, which we all ate at one point or another. I have emails of correspondence of her requisitioning heroin from multiple sources. Even better I have proof that she tried to do this back in 2013 and failed horribly. Even Better than that i have proof that she has been doing this sort of thing for the past 14 years. I called my lawyer ecstatic today. My fiancée and I CRIED OUR EYES OUT. I have never in my life been so grateful for any one person.

I'd also like to say that HeyBuddy REFUSED my money after reading the details of the emails. When he found out how wronged we had been he didn't want a dime. He also offered additional services at no additional cost.

The past year has been the most trying of my life. Our house has been empty. We've missed a year of his life. A year of him getting older and developing. A year of. My words just can not explain how thankful i am. Because of this man I will be able to hold my son again. He accomplished something that I can never thank him enough for. If you are wanting his services but have any reservation or doubt, please do not have any. He is professional and it literally took him minutes to accomplish what was needed. Within minutes he was giving me information that only someone who had accessed their information could possibly know.

I'm still new on HF, and due to all the scams on here I had given up on buying anything from anyone. I was approached by a couple of people when I posted that I needed help with this. I was quoted $400, $500. People acted like this was going to be extensive work. They wanted payment up front. Non stop harassed me on Skype. "Mystic Investigator" was the worst out of them. HeyBuddy has given me hope that maybe not everyone on this website is bad.

Thank you again. From the bottom of my heart. I can't say enough how much you have helped me. I am still processing all the information, but each hour I spend searching the more I find over and over again. Thank you, a million times Thank You.

If you have any doubts about this man, or if you have anything negative to say, you are just a troll looking to bad mouth someone with a good service. No i don't know this guy and if i was uber or l33t i'd be able to give him positive rep. He is a life changer. He changed my life. I was looking at 6 years. Now i'm looking to not only have my son home, but to put this lying cunt ass whore behind bars. THANK YOU. From the bottom of my heart. Thank you.

Onno! - February 22, 2017, 3:26 pm

Welldone, you should be extremely proud of yourself!

Although the term "DOXing" is usually linked with forbidden and harmful activities, you showed us that DOXing can be used to make people's lives better!

You changed someone's entire life for the better.

Mad respect!

allonon - February 22, 2017, 10:17 pm

HeyBuddy, you are a life changer man! Seriously, I said it a bunch because I literally don't have the words to explain how extremely grateful I am. I wish there were some way the world could recognize exactly what you have done for me. This past year has been awful. I look in my sons empty room. I see all his toys sitting with unplayed. I cursed GOD that i haven't stepped on a lego in over a year. I hear people complain about how awful their kids are and if they only knew how much i wish I could just look into my sons eyes. Thank you HeyBuddy. Thank you so much.

And for anyone wondering HeyBuddy is still checking in with me every couple of hours seeing if I need help with anything. He even provided a couple of more logins and new information for me to look at including access to her now husbands email which helps solidify everything. Thank you. A million times.

Wrong :) dont you think we thought of this?

we have loopholes.

+ my job wasn't to win his court case. my job was to hack the email.

There are loopholes that allow you to use this evidence in courts.

i make a steady $3k a month off selling doxing services on the clearnet alone.

i have over 15 recurring customers (customers that purchase more than 1 dox every month) and customers who just contact me via HF, and other forums.

This is off selling dox's; this is nothing close to the free dox's i do. i did 50 free ones in a span of a month on HF

I just happened to check on HeyBuddy here on HF. Between reading this thread and the messages left by the HF community on my rep I have to say from the bottom of my heart thank you to everyone. For your kind words, your positivity, and most importantly support. Reading everyone's comments made me realize that HF isn't just a chance for someone to make a buck, or scam someone. We have an opportunity to use what we do for good. To help someone who just needs a hand. And with that said if there is ever anything I can offer someone, please don't hesitate to ask.

I wanted to give everyone an update. I was able to organize this woman's emails into 4 binders which helped explain everything that happened in a timeline. I was able to send these out today. One to the District Attorney, One to my Attorney, One to the detective that handled the investigation, and another to my CPS Caseworker. I am hoping that within the next couple of weeks the information will be reviewed and charges dropped. I'm also hoping that this good for nothing person who not only ruined my life but the life of my sons gets investigated for the numerous crimes which she committed.

I'll give you a small list of what we were unable to uncover.

1. That she plotted, and carried out an attempt to poison my entire family by putting HEROIN on a pizza she sent home with my son after having him for a weekend. She also put it in a couple of other snacks as well, but I remember very clearly that pizza. We all ate it and it's how we tested positive for opiates. She tried and failed a couple of times to put drugs in my car. Physically tried to break into my car and hide drugs.

2. The reason she did this. Her son is the biological father of the child I call my son. For 3 years she had been pushing for domiciliary custody of him. We didn't know why, she didn't even live in the same state. Her son was injured while working for his own father. She pushed him to sue his own father who in turn had to sell his business in order to pay out this lawsuit for 1.3 million dollars. She wanted custody of my son so that when suing they would be able to double the sum they paid out because they would have another person to care for. I.e. Now we have to care for 3 people so we need more money.

3. We found out a plot from 2013 where she doctored text messages from me to her. The messages had me demanding for her doctor boyfriend to write me a prescription or I wouldn't allow her to see her grandson. The plot failed when they brought the screenshots to the police because my actual phone number wasn't visible, and the police asked her to bring her cell phone statement showing the exchange of texts.

4. We also found out that she's been calling CPS on people since 2004 when she first started her yahoo account. I can guess she's been doing this her whole life as well but we don't have documentation to prove it.

5. Now this is the funniest part and the part that makes me believe every wrong is righted, and karma is very real. She made her son sue his own father for 1.3 million dollars. She gave 1 million to a financial planner, who has since November of last year gone missing. He apparently saw an easy mark, took her money and has disappeared. She is broke. She started overdrafting her account in January. All of her bills are past due. The private school she put my son in is about to release him because tuition isn't paid. Her life insurance isn't paid. Cellphone, everything is behind. She owes roughly $5-10k to over 7 different attorneys. Basically she's broke, and is in panic mode, filling out as many online loan applications as she can.

And now. The part where I smile. She's broke, out of options, about to be exposed for the criminal she is, and I am about to get my son back. I've been unpacking all his toys and setting up his room. I'm beyond ecstatic and excited. Thank you again HeyBuddy. Really you don't know how much you've changed my life.

DEADZ - February 28, 2017, 7:21 pm
