

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Assistance on thread-making \(Monetizing Techniques\)

Sweet - February 23, 2017, 1:57 pm

I plan to drop a big Monetizing Technique which is a program that I will be selling for around $100. The program automatically buys and sells altcoins for a profit.

Currently the program is up for sale on another bitcoin forums and is doing well but I wanted to know what some advice and tips are for selling on this site, should I lower the price, what should I include in the post, what should I do to start off sales, should I show previous sales for vouch?

Things like this I am all very interested in, here is the graphic I have been working on for the thread post just for a visual representation of it: Link

Also I created an entire wiki for manual's and tutorials on the bot which is included in the post if your interested in checking that out for revisions: Wiki

I will be adding a FAQ to the post but am also unsure of what questions some people may have about anything other than the bot (payment, security, etc) and some advice of what to add the FAQ would be nice aswell.

Basically, what im asking is: what is the best way to maximize sales and what exactly what should be included in this thread to make everything as best as possible, thanks for your criticism.