Thread: Clover Awards Statistics

SIM-888979 - February 23, 2017, 10:49 pm

I was pretty bored so I decided to open up Excel and find out what is the current probability of receiving any Clover awards on Hack Forums.

I used statistics from the Awards Page, using the "Find" function to determine the numbers of receivers the Clover awards had, here is what I found:

Green Clover: 490

Purple Clover: 96

Gold Clover: 20

Total Clovers: 606

I then proceed to go onto the statistics page of Hack Forums (stats.php) and found out the average number of posts per day (I'm unsure if threads are counted as posts, but I assumed that it was and did not add in threads into the post count) which was 13,726.56 posts per day. The award was first given out (a Green Clover) on the 3rd of June, 2016. We're NOT taking into account the posts made in private subforums such as group forums and perhaps admin subforums. This is not something I can find out, and cannot remove from the average post per days. I think it is not possible to win a Clover award in private subforums.

After doing some calculations, here are the odds (these are estimates):

Any Clovers: 1 in every 6025.20 posts

Green Clovers: 1 in every 7451.60 posts

Purple Clovers: 1 in every 38034.01 posts

Gold Clovers: 1 in every 182563.25 posts

Excel Spreadsheet:

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Actual Odds:

You're more likely to die from a car accident than to receive a green clover award, you're more likely to die from a bee sting than to receive a gold clover award, also you're more likely to be murdered than to receive a purple clover award. So basically, you must be really lucky to own one of these awards. ?

The odds are still the same considering that each post is an "independent" roll of the dice.

If we're talking about getting ALL 3 together in one post, that's 1 in every 51,740,736,894,679.30 posts. That's an astronomical level kind of odds.

Yes, but not all three in one post. The odds of having 3 from different posts is still the same as the odds of getting one from one post.

Basically, the odds of you rolling one die 3 times and getting 3 "6" is WAY higher than rolling 3 dies 1 time and getting 3 "6".

Well, this is the Lounge - all the threads here are pretty much useless and just fun discussions and chats.

The data is flawed though, it's not an exact probability because there is many things that comes into play, such as having at least enough characters and what not. I'm also counting the subforums where awards are not given, which I believe is private group subforums, and perhaps admin or staff restricted subforums.

That's believing in the law of averages, I guess. At some point, at some time, you'll earn that award if you're consistent enough.

Oh shit, where'd you find this? ?

Looks like I'm way off, or that 2/3 of posts on HF have 100 characters or less.

DOG - February 23, 2017, 11:39 pm

Personally there is no such stats for that. It's really random, how many posts per day were made, the number of character per posts, activity on the forum etc..

Lucky Clover Awards

So the odds to get them in one post (if even possible) it

1 in 25,000,000

1 in 100,000,000

1 in 625,000,000

1 in 12,500,000,000,000

Yes, the odds are astronomical. Well, looks like we found another interesting statistics then - about 2/3 of the posts on Hack Forums are less than 100 characters or less, which is probably the reason why only 1 in 7,000ish posts receives the green, and so on and so forth.

The REAL odds are actually here:

My calculations did not account for 100 characters in posts, as the stats.php only shows posts per day, regardless of amount of characters in them. So that may be the reason why my calculations were so far off.

This analysis includes posts that are less than 100 characters and the OP of threads, both of which are not eligible for clovers. Less significantly, it does not take into account posts that were made between the release of clovers and when the first one was awarded.

Also the posts/day average goes back since HF started, so that number is likely much different than the average posts/day between when clovers were released and now.

If you're using average posts per day, why would you assume that it wouldn't count group subforums?

And to answer your question, the OP of the threads in the threads/day stat will be included in the posts/day stat.

This thread is interesting and I understand you did the best you could, but the stats you came up with are far enough away from the truth that they are rather meaningless.

Still though, I really do appreciate the mathematical curiosity!

I'm kind of hoping to get a clover at some point just because I post a fair amount. Seeing the actual stats makes me think I'm probably not going to be getting any of them anytime soon.

You and me both. The odds behind it all really aren't really all that encouraging. But hey, I've had less likely things happen to me so you never really know. Honestly I'd just like any award at this point. My profile seems so lonely without them.

Quirky odds, inadequate data, horrible example. Might want to mention in OP that this calculation is botched beyond belief, and people shouldn't be taking it for granted.

(Feb 23, 2017 11:49 PM)Aurora Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I was pretty bored so I decided to open up Excel and find out what is the current probability of receiving any Clover awards on Hack Forums.

I used statistics from the Awards Page, using the "Find" function to determine the numbers of receivers the Clover awards had, here is what I found:

Green Clover: 490

Purple Clover: 96

Gold Clover: 20

Total Clovers: 606

I then proceed to go onto the statistics page of Hack Forums (stats.php) and found out the average number of posts per day (I'm unsure if threads are counted as posts, but I assumed that it was and did not add in threads into the post count) which was 13,726.56 posts per day. The award was first given out (a Green Clover) on the 3rd of June, 2016. We're NOT taking into account the posts made in private subforums such as group forums and perhaps admin subforums. This is not something I can find out, and cannot remove from the average post per days. I think it is not possible to win a Clover award in private subforums.

After doing some calculations, here are the odds (these are estimates):

Any Clovers: 1 in every 6025.20 posts

Green Clovers: 1 in every 7451.60 posts

Purple Clovers: 1 in every 38034.01 posts

Gold Clovers: 1 in every 182563.25 posts

Excel Spreadsheet:

Spoiler (Click to View)

Actual Odds:

You're more likely to die from a car accident than to receive a green clover award, you're more likely to die from a bee sting than to receive a gold clover award, also you're more likely to be murdered than to receive a purple clover award. So basically, you must be really lucky to own one of these awards. ?

Crack3r.shop - February 26, 2017, 9:35 pm

Sweet, I bet I'll get one in less than 100 posts.

Ni??c??k - February 26, 2017, 9:46 pm

Us clover winners have to stick together.

Also, I think you're more likely to win the powerball lottery jackpot than to have all 3 clovers. Lmao

Well if your posts are always like this you will never get one. Make sure you're at 100 characters when you post!

Lol all I'm saying is they need to be at least 100 characters (quotes count). If your shit posts aren't 100 characters then no lol they are not helping.

Good job on doing the math. Less likely to get hit in the head with a coconut though.

Vitani's Mate - May 20, 2017, 11:53 pm

I have the green clover.
It took me fucking ages to get it though.

I would like the others though. :D

Rayner - May 21, 2017, 2:31 am

I'm not sure how some have all three. Making this post long so I can get one, just kidding.

There are users who received the gold and are now closed. It sucks man.

NurSpec - May 21, 2017, 2:36 am

I guess a lot of members forget about the 100 character rule when posting, probably why a lot of people with thousands of posts don't have any yet.

There are people who earned the award but got their account closed. When your account gets closed, all your awards are removed (Feb 23, 2017 11:49 PM)Aurora Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You're more likely to die from a car accident than to receive a green clover award, you're more likely to die from a bee sting than to receive a gold clover award, also you're more likely to be murdered than to receive a purple clover award. So basically, you must be really lucky to own one of these awards. ?

If I get any clovers I will be scared I will die from the 3 things you mentioned lol

SIM-3257834 - May 21, 2017, 6:49 am

For a moment I thought Omni was giving me back my old account but was highly disappointed to see it was the PM regarding the clover award...

GrandpaSherman - May 21, 2017, 6:51 am

Cammy - May 21, 2017, 6:53 am

I just want the motherfucking purple clover award already I need it like fish need water

Honestly same here. Purple is my favorite color and its the one clover I really want. I feel like if I ever get a clover it'll either be the green or the gold. Not the purple one. :(

Fuckadoodledoo - May 21, 2017, 7:00 am

I predict that this post I am writing right now will award me with a clover award. Any clover award.

What would you guys do if this actually came true.

Kinda reminds me of the get posts on /b/ to get trips or dubs lmao

Holdstrom - May 21, 2017, 7:54 am

That's saddening, I'd rather get hit by car at this point.

Stellar - May 21, 2017, 7:55 am

I don't know what all the hype is about, I'll probably get a clover from this very post.

Spoiler \(Click to View\) I have a better chance of catching a fart in the wind wait so I need to have 100 characters of words to have a chance of the clovers

Give me a blowjob and I'll put in good word with Omni

Guys i must tell you, i have a hack in order to get all the clovers.
and that secret is... you gotta turn into super saiyan in every post you make so

see i just got two clovers

Lucky i didn't die by an car accident, instead i got myself the clover!

Sorry I dont like big guys only small girls
