Should I get byte crypter lifetime? and how do I get clients to stay on my nanocore forever they always disappear after awhile. thanks

when I try to buy it, it says cannot proceed return to merchant.

It won't let me buy it off of paypal.

Byte crypter is a waste of money as there are other ones which have been cracked that work just as well. As far as nanocore clients you probably need to check your server settings and change when the application labels them as lost clients. I believe the current default is 5 days, so if they are offline for 5 days then it will be removed from your connections. If I remember correctly they had also said that they wouldn't be able to accept paypal for a while, but you can buy btc with paypal so that shouldn't be a problem.
