Thread: I spilled Pot Roast on my Laptop...

Loses - March 4, 2017, 9:36 pm

The only issues with the Pot Roast was the little juices and shit and they went inside my USB port and the Headset port, is it hard to swap those out?

I got this laptop for free from the school I go to.

I would like to be able to use my USB ports again, I cleaned them out as gentle as I can but I am pretty sure I fucked up the USB ports.

Do not turn the power on. Dry it out as much as possible and take it to a repairing/servicing shop ASAP.

Image is broken, and how in the hell do you drop pot roast on your laptop xD
Your best bet would probably be to go to a shop or go to support

I already been using it, the only issue is the USB/Aux port

>Asus

ayy lmao that shit is gone
it'd probably survive if it were a thinkpad though

No centering is too basic.

Bruh you just beefed your build, should work better than ever. Besides, just go to any store thats sells similar laptops and tell them you're Reviewing products! Let me know! and they'll hook you up with a new laptop.

Hey mate.
So, have you tested your USB port(s) if it works properly?

They don't work at all, thats the problem

You got that laptop free from school and got to keep it? I thought my school was baller for letting us use ThinkPad Edge E530s.

Anyways there is no easy fix for this. As you know it's generally not recommended to spill liquids inside of a computer. It's probably a loss at this point.
