Thread: View all your posts in a thread

This would be super useful when I'm trying to find something. Searching your name doesn't bring up all your posts, only the ones that get quoted.

Maybe there could be a button at the top of a thread saying like "View all your posts"?

"Your Posts" in the menu?

Click post: RE: abc You're missing the point. Say I made posts a very long time ago on a thread. It'd be very annoying or even impossible to go back far enough to do that.

Yes, this would make it easier to see all of your posts in a single thread... but how often do you need to do that?

And plus the implementation would be easy.. I don't know SQL but I assume it's just something like:
SELECT posts by `uid` where tid= `tid`

I actually like this idea. Let me view the code.

EDIT: Done.

Click the "Thread Options" at the top right and choose the "View Your Posts" option.
