Thread: Is Yahoo Answers going downhill?

W?lr?? - March 5, 2017, 10:41 am

Was just browsing Yahoo answers like every other day, searching for homework answers. I go to the frontpage of Yahoo answers and this is at the top:

ShennagigansDN - March 5, 2017, 11:53 am

Now ask yourself, did you really expect anything better from yahoo answers?

Trappy - March 5, 2017, 11:54 am

Yahoo Answers can actually be good sometimes. I admire anyone who puts actual effort into the site, it's helped me with homework a lot.

Charger - March 5, 2017, 11:56 am

Yahoo answers is filled with spam bots now. It used to be really useful and now not so much.

Egregious Jr. - March 5, 2017, 11:57 am

People still use yahoo answers?

J?son - March 5, 2017, 11:57 am

I always considered Yahoo answers to be the biggest joke of internet advice giving. More than half of the activity on Yahoo Answers is about middle school girlfriend problems, after all.

On the other hand, I had never heard of someone going on the Yahoo Answers site. I always ask a question into Google, and someone's already asked it on Yahoo Answers.

Charger - March 5, 2017, 1:52 pm

Also I haven't came accross a single Yahoo Answers post in the past year that didn't have some sort of spam link attached.

Kaleb - March 5, 2017, 1:54 pm

I think you meant isn't Yahoo going downhill and the answer is yes for many years now.

BR?ND?N - March 5, 2017, 2:01 pm

Quora has much higher quality than Yahoo Answers. You're not allowed to give simple one-sentence or troll answers; the answer must be well thought out. And your question will usually be answered by people who have great knowledge and experience in the subject

Quora is a cancer. I have that blocked on uBlock and a dns entry for it. I hate that site so much.

Fantod - March 5, 2017, 2:15 pm

It was never good, so it can't have gone downhill.

Meowth - March 5, 2017, 2:16 pm

Yahoo Answers used to be my go to for assistance with homework. Then it turned into nothing but answers containing advertisements.

That's one of the higher quality replies on Yahoo Answers, unfortunately.
