Thread: if you can watch this without cringe pausing, you're a god

If you can find the actual video, then that'd be better.

Lor?d - March 5, 2017, 3:41 pm

I didn't pause it once.

Gotta say though some of the people in this video deserve to be hit by a piano that fell from the 87th floor of a building.

It's called editing. As well as having hands.

4L CAPONE - March 5, 2017, 5:15 pm

It's not that it's just starting to happen in this generation. It's just because everyone has phones, internet and social media so they share this shit more often than old timers.

Kids these day:

- Materialistic (age of 6, running around with iPhone 6... age of 12.. need to have a ps4, etc.)
- Egoistic (YOU will be the best, YOU will be the best fighter, YOU will be the most popular.. it's all about YOU YOU YOU)
- Sexual raised (dressing like a slut at age of 4 is "aww cute!" and 14 is "she's a hoe!"

So yes... same with social media, especially te sexual "education" that kids these day force on eachother.

- Girl with cute ponytails, dressed cute as a kid = NERD
- Girl with hair like a model, make-up at the age of 9, short skirt + whore boots = Popular/well-liked/well-followed at social media

Girls of our age (16-26):

- Girl with books + a nice smile: 50 likes

- Girl with books + a nice cleavage: 100 likes
- Girl at swimming pool in bikini: 300 likes
- Girl at shower, just covering her boobs while we just about to miss the pussy pic...: 750 likes

Other girls see this (the "sexier" you dress/pose/act, the more you are liked by society) and copy the style.

I always cringe at sluts (guys or girls) who act like they are f*cking pimps at the age of 12-16 while they just figured out how to suck dick / eat pussy.

I really hate those f*cking arrogant kids, for having no respect, for having no "manners" and no clue at all of what is important here on Earth, which is not how to gain 500 likes by acting like a whore.

You can't blame them, because kids of their age in movies dress "sexy", social media (instagram, snapchat + facebook) ruined a lot of kids (girls especially) as well as how f*cked up the Music Industry is with their semi-sexual hidden messages and "designer" clothing.

- Semi-nude nicki minaj (yeah... need this any explain?)
- Slut ariana grande (from a "sexy" kid to a slut)
- Fuckboy justin bieber (from a nerd guitar kid to a fuck-boy who get models)
- etc.

Those "stars" aren't the stars we grew up with, yes "Britney" was sexy and yes, we all loved Rihanny.

Yet we hadn't "nude" clips, like we got now.. twerking "trending" videos (sexual moves) and other "hidden" sexual things that kids are copying these days.

Anyway, it's just what the world is becoming too, but I do not like it at all.
Sorry for the long post

This isn't anything new to our century. Marilyn Monroe was essentially the 1950's version of Ariana Grande or Nicki Minaj.
