Dawn - Student Recruitment

Dawn is a group focused on bettering its members through education and guidance. For now, we are holding recruitment in order to find some new students. We are looking for those that strive to improve themselves through the process of learning. Additionally, the ideal candidate provides an overall positive influence to the forum.

Our group currently offer courses in graphics (Photoshop*), video editing (Sony Vegas Pro*), web development (for the web development course, apply here), and MyBB forum development (for the forum development course, apply here). As of now, our courses are geared towards beginners, so please consider your level of expertise before applying. Courses are being modified from time to time, so it's very possible we'll offer more subjects with varying degrees of difficulty in the future. Fortunately, one of the benefits of being in the group is that you have the opportunity to enjoy the new courses as they come into being.

Below is the format for your application. Please take your time applying, and remember that the more details you provide, the better your chances of gaining entry.

We look forward to welcoming some new applicants.

* Please make sure you have the respective programs for the courses in which you are applying.

Course Info: (WIP)

Video Editing

[Video: <https://youtu.be/ps28396wjzU>]

Course description: In this course, you will learn the fundamentals of editing with Sony Vegas Pro. You will learn how to use Velocity, Pan/Crop, sound mixing, and certain plugins that will help you get on your feet to start creating your own content. These tutorials are fairly basic; they simply take time to get the hang of. The methods covered can be used for basic edits or advanced edits.

Which courses are you interested in? (answering with "all" is okay)

> Graphics. I want to talk to others, gain knowlege and share ideas.

Will you actively participate in your enrolled courses?

> Yes. I'm still new to GFX and I'm really getting into it, so far YouTube has been my only source of knowledge but I'd like to expand that.

Do you understand that failure to participate in your enrolled courses is grounds for immediate removal from the group?

> I understand. Your group your rules.

Reeces - March 7, 2017, 11:16 am

Why would you be a good fit for Dawn?

> I'm relatively new to the forums. I've been quite active over the last few months and I'm only coming on more and more every day. Im really enjoying my time here and want to get involved more. I'm friendly, can have a joke etc and can fit in well and I enjoy talking to new people.

What knowledge do you currently possess in the subjects of the courses listed?

> I'm already an average graphic designer but I by no means think I'm the best. I still have a lot to learn and am very interested to see what new skills I could pick up. Also, I really enjoying helping people. I currently upload a lot of my PSDs to YouTube and sellfy and currently average aorund 1-2K downloads per month on my work. So not only would this help me and benefit me, it would also help out a bunch of other people whom download my PSDs.

Also I can use AE to edit basic videos however I've not delved too far into before other than using Element 3D to make some 3D work and I can use Sony Vegas for normal video editing and come more complex stuff

Are there any fields of knowledge where you personally excel?

> Graphic design. I'm quite knowledgeable and I may not be a great designer but I know what I'm talking about and know how to use all the Photoshop tools and a few plug ins like MBL etc.

Which courses are you interested in? (answering with "all" is okay)

> All, although I'd love to improve on my graphic design and video editing skills, I've always been interested in programming and wouldn't mind starting to learn some new things, as for Russian, I've always just thought the idea of being able to fluently speak another language is rather amazing.

Will you actively participate in your enrolled courses?

> Yes, ive recently moved into my new apartment and have found myself with a lot of free time that I need to fill. Learning new things I'd a great use of that time.

Do you understand that failure to participate in your enrolled courses is grounds for immediate removal from the group?

> I understand fully.

Thank you for reading this and I appreciate the opportunity. Enjoy your day.

Also, I'm regards to all my threads that are called "Closed", I wanted to be more HQ so I got rid of all of my threads when i got L33T. They will be junked when I get UB3R eventually.

ENMAFIA2 APPLICATION

Why would you be a good fit for Dawn?

> I think that I would be a great member as I'm really into graphic design and video editing, in fact, I'm currently getting into programming. I could help other people with graphic design and if there are good video editing tuts I am very interested in them because I am okay with video editing but not as comfortable in recording and camera theory. Russian might also be something cool to learn as there are big hacking forums operating in russian.

What knowledge do you currently possess in the subjects of the courses listed?

> I have been designing and editing video for a while now and I really love it. I do commission work from time to time but it's not something regular. I know HTML and CSS and I'm currently looking up some python but Java and C++ are looking interesting too. I am able to understand the syntax and what's doing but I am not able to program without any help or internet (this probably means I need some more practice).
About Russian I can't say much but what I can hear in CS:GO.

Are there any fields of knowledge where you personally excel?

> Graphic Design might be my excel.

Which courses are you interested in? (answering with "all" is okay)

> Being totally honest I'm most intrigued in all but Russian. However, I find the Russian course something curious.

Will you actively participate in your enrolled courses?

> If they are worth something which it seems they will then I can assure yes.

Do you understand that failure to participate in your enrolled courses is grounds for immediate removal from the group?

> Yes, however I would love to see all the courses first and check the ones that I am most interested in so I can have enough time for the tasks.

Thanks for reading my application, have a nice day.

Why would you be a good fit for Dawn?

>I am always on my computer. When I get home from school I get on my pc until I have to go to sleep. There is nothing for me to really do anymore other than play games so I have a lot of time I can invest into the courses. Also, in my school I've taken all the computer classes they offer because that's what I'm interested in and I've never actually learn anything. I'd love to be able to get a chance to actually learn the things I'm interested in and hopefully be able to help others with what I have learned.

What knowledge do you currently possess in the subjects of the courses listed?

>I have always messed around in Photoshop and tried to make graphics. I have a basic understanding and am in a illustration class but like I said above they really don't teach you anything. I also know the basics to coding as I've started to learn many languages but never actually got deep enough into them.

Why would you be a good fit for Dawn?

> I believe that I would be a good fit for Dawn because I am interested in being able to learn as much as I can about different topics.

As well as being active and well mannered on HF despite only being here few a month or two.

I have throughout my time in my life attempted to learn different forms of coding, including C++, Ruby, Batch, HTML and Python.

However I ran into some issues as well as my job getting in the way and some things not making sense, but I hope that it can change if I get accepted.

I also was able to self-teach myself the basics of Sony Vegas Pro.

However I do struggle to understand more advanced concepts of the program, despite watching video tutorials. And wish to learn more about this and hopefully become a talented editor one day.

Learning another language has always been something I've been interested in as I travel a lot and have currently been to: Vietnam, Cambodia, Brazil, Chile, Argentina, India and Spain.

And I wish to travel more one day.

What knowledge do you currently possess in the subjects of the courses listed?

> As I stated above, I have attempted to learn the above mentioned things, however, I'd still rate my skills as basic.

Are there any fields of knowledge where you personally excel?

> Yes, I wouldn't expect anything less, recruitment is for members looking to learn, not to show off a badge.

Jon Snow. - March 13, 2017, 4:16 pm

Why would you be a good fit for Dawn?

> I believe I would be a great fit for Dawn for a few reasons. One of them being that I love what the group stands for. I've always valued education, whether I like it or not, it's amazing to learn new things, and especially things that interest me. As someone who loves learning new things all the time, I believe I would fit in very well.

Secondly, I know that Dawn isn't a group which opens its doors easily to any normal members. Only applicants and users whom have been carefully chosen from the leadership team are invited in to the private community, and most of these users are awesome around the forum as a whole. I've never seen a Dawn user who is LQ around the forum, which gives the group an excellent reputation as well. I believe that I would fit very well in to this category, as aside from trolling sometimes, I believe myself to be a very HQ user.

What knowledge do you currently possess in the subjects of the courses listed?

> I mainly have knowledge within the Graphics and Coding subjects which you are offering courses on. In regards to Graphics, I've learnt the basics as College, as I'm studying Computing currently which contains a Digital Graphics module. I enjoyed this a lot and would love to learn more, and someone teaching/guiding me would be an excellent way to learn. The same thing applies with coding, however I don't know much about C++, but know that I'll be studying it at University next year, hence it will be excellent to have a head start I guess.

Are there any fields of knowledge where you personally excel?

> As I briefly mentioned in the previous question, I believe I have a good amount of knowledge within computing in general, as I've studied it a lot academically as well as having a passion for it outside of school. I also have a good knowledge of business in general, and have ran a few projects offsite, but haven't been extremely successful or anything.

Which courses are you interested in? (answering with "all" is okay)

> I would probably be interested in the Coding course the most if I'm being honest, however the Graphics course would definitely be my second choice.

Will you actively participate in your enrolled courses?

> Of course. Opportunities like this don't come all the time, the knowledge that can be learnt from this is worth thousands of pounds/dollars, and being able to get it for free is excellent, hence I would ensure I am very active and don't miss out on anything after being given such an opportunity.

Do you understand that failure to participate in your enrolled courses is grounds for immediate removal from the group?

>Yes, I understand this fully. It would be disrespectful to any teachers as well as leaders of the group after allowing myself in, to then not put the effort in to the course and group as a whole.

Thank you for your time taken to read this application, and good luck to all other applicants!

Why would you be a good fit for Dawn?

I'm experienced and have dealt with depression, and I suffer from social anxiety, so I try and help as many people as I can online by giving them tips and good advice regarding relationships or their feelings/moods/life, which I think would be great for the Innuendo sector of the sub-forum. I've been trying to stay active in the main Innuendo sector of HF upon my friend Nehssa's advice. Other than that, I'd love to help people out with whatever knowledge I have in various subjects ranging from graphics designing to programming.

What knowledge do you currently possess in the subjects of the courses listed?

I know basics of C++ (I've read and practiced functions). Other than that, I'm a professional graphics designer, but would love to learn Illustrator and cartoon-style designs in Photoshop. I know very basic video editing, but no knowledge about Russian language.

Are there any fields of knowledge where you personally excel?

Graphics designing.

Which courses are you interested in? (answering with "all" is okay)

Fucci's Dawn Application

Why would you be a good fit for Dawn?

I have a thirst for knowledge, and a passion for teaching!

I am always open to sharing the knowledge I've obtained over my many years in front of a screen. Even more-so I am open to learning from anyone who can offer an opinion, or knowledge they've picked up through researching or experience.

Open mind, open heart!

What knowledge do you currently possess in the subjects of the courses listed?

Graphics: 5/10 - Been using Photoshop for around 10 years for personal use, never professionally.

Coding: 2/10 - I'm learning Python at the moment, would love to learn C++!

Video-Editing: 4/10 - I've got experience, with it but I'm not that skilled.

Russian: 2/10 - I know a few words and phrases from my closest friends whose native language is Russian.

Are there any fields of knowledge where you personally excel?

Excellent communicative skills in English reading, writing, and verbal communications.

I excel in my adept abilities in Social Engineering.

My Operational Security planning skills are excellent, I consult to people who need help securing themselves online in any situation.

My knowledge on the topic of security and privacy is pretty advanced.

I have a strong capability to research, study, and learn almost any topic very quickly.

In my day life, I'm an event planner with 6 years experience throwing events so that will transfer over into any type of planned events.

I'm a people person, I'm very good at making new friends and attracting others.

Which courses are you interested in?

I'm actually interested in all of the courses.

Why not better myself at the guidance of anyone with greater capabilities than my own, right?

The areas which I really need to improve are in my Programming, and Russian language skills.

I'd really like to learn Russian so I can properly communicate with Russian people for business.

I hear they don't like doing business with people that have bad Russian skills.

Thank you again for considering my application.

Why would you be a good fit for Dawn?

I feel I would be a good fit for Dawn because I'm a very active person and I'm really friendly.

I'm online for 5+ hours during the day, and even more on the weekends.

I love to learn new stuff, and would be very willing to put both time and effort into course.

What knowledge do you currently possess in the subjects of the courses listed?

I was an art student for 4 years in school, but I didn't keep doing the subject. But I want to get into graphics / art again and this seems like a great opportunity for me to do so.

Are there any fields of knowledge where you personally excel?

I excel in graphics.

I can show you my sketch books with some of my work if needed.

From a young age I've loved drawing, and I received an A in Art in school, I enjoy pencil drawings the most, but painting with watercolours is something I liked to.

Which courses are you interested in? (answering with "all" is okay)

I'm interested in the graphics course. I'd love to get into digital graphics, I may even purchase a graphics tablet in the near future. I see what some people are able to do with the, and the outcomes are amazing.

Will you actively participate in your enrolled courses?

I will be 100% active. To this, I'm willing to put a lot of time and effort into learning from my course.

Do you understand that failure to participate in your enrolled courses is grounds for immediate removal from the group?

Yes I understand that.

(Mar 16, 2017 07:43 PM)503ace Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Out of curiosity, how long does it take to process an application and do I stand a chance at getting in?

There's no definite answer as to how long it takes to process an application, so I have no answer for you there.

I will say that this recruitment thread will stay open for weeks/ months to come, as we find new users who show initiative for their courses. Some members may be added, but if they don't partake in the courses they applied for they'll be removed and someone else may take their spot in class.

Of course, if you take part in your courses you won't have to fear being randomly removed, so don't panic about that.

As to the requirements for applying? There's no specific minimum, but from what I can tell it's based mostly on the application itself than on any account statistics. You can have 4,000 reputation, but if you don't put anything into the application your spot will be passed along to someone else who actually shows an interest in the course, regardless of their reputation or stats.

We're creating courses for users to learn through, not trying to gather the highest rated profiles. Hope that answered your question.

What knowledge do you currently possess in the subjects of the courses listed?

Not the slightest clue on video editing nor coding. I am willing to learn and ready to dive down and explore different topics that you guys have to offer in Dawn. I just really need someone to guide me through it, and this is why I am applying today for the student program

Are there any fields of knowledge where you personally excel?

Yes just general computing topics, malware removal and computer security. This is all I know, it's so little so bare with me.

I think they haven't accepted anyone, see page 6:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5568899&page=6>

I was thinking the same. I would like to know why is it taking so much time.

I dont mean to stir the pot, but there is a bit of a backlog on applications. Is there anybody who can attest to the status of accepting applications so some of us aren't left in the dark?

Why would you be a good fit for Dawn?

> I think I'd be a good fit as I can be fairly active, and I love learning and bettering myself where I can. I really enjoy sharing knowledge of anything, if someone can learn something from me I'm happy and vice versa. Knowledge is the key.

What knowledge do you currently possess in the subjects of the courses listed?

> Russian - Not very much, although I have some Russian friends so I know a few words but that's about it.

Graphics and Video Editing - This was part of my college course, and is going to be part of my college course that I plan on taking in a few months so I have some experience with these.

C++ I have no experience in, but would love to learn it. I have done Java/HTML/CSS/Javascript and Arduino so have some basic experience in programming languages.

Are there any fields of knowledge where you personally excel?

> Nothing that I would personally say I excel in, although I have a lot of experience with computing in general. I've been in college studying it for the past 3 years, but it's different parts. I've done Microsoft Office, Hardware, Web Development and Design, Math, Video Editing, Audio Editing and more.

Which courses are you interested in? (answering with "all" is okay)

> I'd say all as they interest me, but Video Editing isn't really my thing. Although it's a good thing to learn, I just never enjoyed it in college. Learning C++ would be amazing.

Hey guys, thanks for all the interest. We've had the opportunity to get some pretty solid members into the group. Every application has been reviewed up to this point. There are no set status requirements to get into the group, but there are some things that I look for when reviewing applicants. If you have not been selected, do not worry, because there will be future recruitments.

If you're still interested in being a part of the group right now, albeit for a different purpose, then check out Nevieth's innuendo recruitment thread:

Sapience's Application

Why would you be a good fit for Dawn?

> I believe I would be a good fit for Dawn because I'm constantly trying to learn new things and I also love to teach others what I personally know. Even though I'm still a fairly new member to the forum, I'm rather active and I'm not planning on leaving the forum any time soon since there is still a lot I can learn from it (even after going through the enormous amounts of tutorials and other learning resources, there would still be a lot to learn from teaching others).

What knowledge do you currently possess in the subjects of the courses listed?

> I can do some basic edits to videos and images, but I haven't gotten into anything advanced just yet. My knowledge in graphics doesn't go all that much further than using the Magic Wand tool to make the background of an image transparent, and in videos all I've ever done is make some basic cuts and add simple effects.

Are there any fields of knowledge where you personally excel?

> I believe that taking a break from the books and computer screens every once in a while is really important, so what I can offer is playing classical guitar. I've personally been playing the guitar for almost eight years as a hobby, so I believe that I know enough to teach people how to start off with playing the guitar.

I've personally made some Bustabit scripts in the past, some in collaboration with other developers, and I could teach people how to make those properly and go beyond the basic, well-known techniques like martingale. This requires basic knowledge of JavaScript, which I do possess but am not quite confident enough to teach people yet. It's also more complicated than just being able to write good code, so I'd be teaching people how to calculate the risks by introducing them to some easy-to-use tools.

Which courses are you interested in? (answering with "all" is okay)

> I'm mainly interested in the graphics course since I feel it's extremely useful to know how to properly create and edit images and it's something I've personally struggled with in the past.

Malevolent - May 25, 2017, 10:49 pm

Why would you be a good fit for Dawn?

I am a college student currently in my summer break -- I have time and would like to use my time wisely.

Using my time wisely would include this, as it would allow me to learn more about a skill I am a novice in.

Although many of these skills would be great, I am currently aiming mainly towards one, although a second might interest me as well.

What knowledge do you currently possess in the subjects of the courses listed?

Used Gimp for about five years before switching to Photoshop for the last few years.

I am "okay" at best in both programs, although I prefer Photoshop.

I do have Illustrator as well, but I have no such skills in it. I can technically make some stuff, but nothing noteworthy.

Are there any fields of knowledge where you personally excel?

Computer software/hardware, wrist watches (horology) and audio.

Which courses are you interested in? (answering with "all" is okay)

Mainly graphics, although I am tempted to learn a bit more about how to use Premiere more effectively.

I used to only edit on Final Cut Pro so I never really got the Adobe side of things.

Thanks guys, have a good one.

Yandere - May 28, 2017, 10:20 am

Why would you be a good fit for Dawn? I think I'd be a good fit for Dawn because I'm interested in learning new things, I have never had a problem with anyone on HF so you wouldn't have to worry about me starting drama/ being involved in any. I know some of your group members and they are all very nice, HQ.

What knowledge do you currently possess in the subjects of the courses listed? I possess some video editing knowledge but not much which is why I am interested in trying your courses. I make YT videos and have a slightly above average if not average grasp of video editing and would like to learn more.

Are there any fields of knowledge where you personally excel? Not really. If I'm being honest I'd say I'm quite average in most knowledge fields that I know. But that's why I'd like to enroll in some of your courses so I can be able to excel in one or even just get better at it.

Which courses are you interested in? (answering with "all" is okay) Video-editing

Will you actively participate in your enrolled courses? Yes, I'll participate as much as I can.

Do you understand that failure to participate in your enrolled courses is grounds for immediate removal from the group? Yes, I do.

Thank you for reading, taking the time to consider my application.

Why would you be a good fit for Dawn?

I am always striving to better my understanding and knowledge of various topics and that is exactly what the student sector of Dawn is all about. I am interested in bettering my graphic skills along with learning some coding. Being in Dawn will allow me to do both with the help from other group members.

What knowledge do you currently possess in the subjects of the courses listed?

I currently make some graphics, but my skills are beginner at most. As for the coding, I never actually coded in C++ but I have in numerous other languages. It's been a few years, so I was a little rusty, but I learn quickly and easily.

Are there any fields of knowledge where you personally excel?

I'm pretty much a jack of all trades but a master of none. I am good at certain things, but none of them relate to the current subjects. I'm great with communication and business wise subjects.

Which courses are you interested in? (answering with "all" is okay)

All but mostly focused towards Coding and Graphics work.

Will you actively participate in your enrolled courses?

I will. I like to see the progress that I make and I will be actively posting in group discussions as well as helping other members where I can.

Do you understand that failure to participate in your enrolled courses is grounds for immediate removal from the group?

Yes, I do.

> I am an older member who has been in a lot of groups since I've joined this forum. I've had a spout of inactivity, but I am looking forward to getting back into HF and feel that a group with a good community could help me do that.

What knowledge do you currently possess in the subjects of the courses listed?

> I have built and ran a few MyBB forums of my own. You can see in my post history about when I ran Etherealforums. I've done forum moderation a lot and for many websites so I know the logistics of that as well. I don't know how to properly create a plugin from scratch (not that good at coding). I can do most website back-end things and if I ever ran into a problem could normally have fix it by using Google and meshing together code to form something for my website.
