Thread: Cheated by cryptic

under_taker89 - March 8, 2017, 10:35 pm

I published a thread yesterday to get some help to hack a Facebook account. And I mentioned I'm willing to pay for that. I got an email from CrypticTM by asking $100 to hack that Facebook account. I sent the Money and now he is saying paypal has refunded my money back to my paypal account. But I don't have my money nor the work. Can somebody help me to identify whether this guy is actually from CrypticTM?

Did you not do some sort of verification before sending payment?

How can I do a verification? He acted like genuine and he sent me a screenshot of his profile at HF.

Some guy goes around pretending to be me claiming he can hack stuff for fees.

This is why I always tell people to PM on site before conducting deals.

Scams like this can easily be avoided with a PM.

And for the record, I am not a hacker and do not offer such services.

Op PMd me these details asking if I could help him recover the $300 he lost.

Quote:This is his email address - cryptic.hf@protonmail.com

Skype - crypticvpn@protonmail.com

It's the same guy from the threads I linked above

Someone should IP resolve that Skype and see what IP they get. Might be the first step to uncovering who he really is That sucks.

Personally why I don't use any other form of contact outside of HF.

Yeh but how does this guy get the victims email.

Look

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5569499>

Op posts a thread for a hacking request...

Magically receives an email from "cryptic".

How did "cryptic" get ops email? I don't see it posted anywhere in the thread.

Story Does not quite add up yet.

@Cryptic

He supposedly 'bought' things from other users.

Not really showing anything, as far as contact terms go though on his part.

Can you support me over how to use this tool?

(Jan 28, 2017 08:32 AM)under_taker89 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I paid for your guide. But I didn't get anything. Even a mail. Can you contact me please. Coz I can't send PM here.

Also, did a pretty big search online for the email and nothing came up.

It's not posted anywhere.

The only times it was posted here, was on threads basically of you saying to NOT use it, and highlight "SCAMMER".

I guess all we can do is wait for OP to tell us how he came in contact with this "scammer".

MR - X - March 9, 2017, 5:14 am name and profile to scam first one is Infiltrator@live.com, and the other one is armadahacks@protonmail.com. He also has a skype name set up to look like you that username is "live:cancelling" and now he is trying to pose as another high member cryptic this is the email he is using for that one crypticvpn@protonmail.com.

I was told it was Jarvis_ai who was doing this hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=3141776 there is his link to profile,

Don't post deal disputes outside of the deal disputes section.
