(title should be 'hacked')Actually they still need to work on it Since we still don't know if a Kernel Exploit is possible with this. All it is pretty much is a proof of concept. Cannot believe they rushed the Switch with an old Web kit version that was vulnerable. But hope they don't delay the web browser because of this. i have a switch and i use a custom DNS To trick the switch into thinking the network requires registration. Can now fap on 720p ?
