Thread: NEW* | Afraide.com | Market, Gaming, & Discussions Forum

TrelixHD - March 16, 2017, 5:34 pm

Hello! Join Afraide- <http://afraide.com>

I am here to introduce the next big forum community, let me tell you what you can expect.

The site is good for selling your services in our marketplace forum, finding people to game with, or talk about anything.

We are a new community, made the same day this thread was posted, this means there are still a lot of good usernames to claim!

We also have awards system, monthly giveaways, user upgrades, custom theme, friendly staff, and a good way to promote your social media.

Here's a screenshot of the forums design (some things probably have changed).

Anything you could of ever hoped for is now here.

Sign up today, and lets get it rollin'

<http://afraide.com>

Feedback is also appreciated.

That is not a custom theme. It doesn't seem very unique either, all forums have the same features as you. It's also probably not a good idea to advertise your forum the same day it was made.

Another generic forum..... Can someone make something new and fresh please?

Muddy - March 17, 2017, 3:40 pm

Oh boy I definitely don't like this theme. But good luck with your site boss

What is bad about it?

We would like to hear your feedback.

What should I add that a forum doesn't

Nothing you have is unique, including the genre niche. If you want examples of what users want (feature and theme wise) check out darkr, and plan on spend a good chunk of money.

Won't last. There's too many 'general' forums on the internet already, make something unique.

I like the theme, however it's not custom.

Great! We are just getting started and the domain is still in DNS propagation so we will need to wait on that.

Also open for any suggestions.

If you were to join a forum, what would you want?

I need suggestions to make it unique

Why not add the Off topic at the bottom and make a site announcement on the top of the homepage like at first I see off topic were the rules can go. Since users need to know the forum rules etc.

Also I feel Xenforo will be a good fit for this forum as it has more plugins and awards system or Phpbb3.

I just switched from XenForo over to MyBB

I like MyBB its more open and customizable.

It's a nice theme but there are too many forums with this niche.

what should the niche be?

Check out this new community: <http://afraide.com> | This is a community where you can talk about anything from, general discussions, to gaming, to technology. Also there is a market so you can sell, buy, and trade your products or items with others. Great staff, no downtime, and there is even an awards system. We just started and would like some activity on the site so please sign up and post something to talk about!
