The member you specified is either invalid or doesn't exist.

bdawn - March 16, 2017, 10:19 pm

I can't exactly pick a "favorite" member but I can say that the community as a whole works really well. Almost everyone has some skill level, something to offer to the community and likewise, everyone has something they want to gain from their time in HF which works really well together with the exception of trolls and scammers of course but even then, there is something they want from HF...

<https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=1469061>

That at such a young age he was the admin of cpaelites and literally helped anyone and everyone no matter the language barrier!

Don't know what he does now but I heard he is some form of big dude within trading.

Best of luck finding your favorites.

Apocryphon - March 17, 2017, 5:00 am

I don't have any idols from an internet forum sadly.

Leroy Jethro Gibbs - March 17, 2017, 5:03 am

I can't really say I have a favorite to be honest. Most of the people I actually conversate with are pretty chill. So if anyone I would say either Philip J. Fry or Minimalist to be honest. Both are probably the most chill members I've actually had conversations with that I can remember lol.

minimalist - March 17, 2017, 5:04 am

Skurt is a nice member, but he's been getting on my nerves recently. Another thing that irritates me and he's gone.
