Dawn - Innuendo Recruitment

Dawn is a group focused on bettering its members through education and guidance. For a limited time, we are holding recruitment in order to find some new members for Innuendo. Through Dawn Innuendo we seek to enlighten others and expand our horizons to encompass everyone we can. Our topics will include but are not limited to Physical and Mental Health, Relationships, LGBT issues, Suicide Prevention, and Intellectual Discussions and Debates. Additionally, the ideal candidate for Dawn Innuendo provides an overall positive influence to the forum and shows an interest in Innuendo topics.

Below is the format for your application. Please take your time applying, and remember that the more details you provide, the better your chances of gaining entry.

Why would you be a good fit for Dawn Innuendo?

I'm an active user on the forum who has been through many experiences. Therefore, I will be able to assist and advise others on a daily basis ensuring that the end users receive quality advice.

What previous experiences do you have regarding Innuendo topics?

I want to answer this question without simply listing my experiences and instead explain my story. Currently, I'm 18 years old (I turn 19 in May) and single. In summer of 2015, I met my first love. I had never been in a serious relationship before that; therefore, she was the person I experienced most of my first experiences with. We were together for one year, and then she ended the relationship simply because she wasn't in love with me anymore. I was heartbroken and as a result I attempted suicide twice. I also did some things after the relationship had ended that I regret. This was because I had no one to advise me and if they had, then maybe I would not have attempted suicide. Maybe I would not have did those things I regret. However, life continues. I'm glad those attempts failed and I'm still here because now the least I can do is help those contemplating suicide, and ensure they think twice about what they will do, who will be affected if they went through with it, etc. I hope this gives you an understanding of my experiences.

If you were to be accepted, which topics of Innuendo would you be most comfortable taking part in?
Relationships & Suicide Prevention

How comfortable are you in discussing romance and other more personal topics?

I am very comfortable as you can tell from what I have publicly shared. I take these topics very seriously.

Will you actively participate in our help desks and discussion threads?

Yes, I will.

Do you understand that failure to participate in Innuendo inside and outside of our subforum is grounds for immediate removal from the group?

Yes, I do.

LionHeart~ - March 17, 2017, 5:08 pm

Clean thread, good job Nevieth. And good luck to everyone.

Trappy - March 17, 2017, 5:17 pm

Why would you be a good fit for Dawn Innuendo?

> I am young (15) and I believe I'd be well equipped to help other people who are in pain, in need of help, or just need to talk, with their issues. I am very good at relating to people and I believe I'm good at talking to people through/about their issues.

What previous experiences do you have regarding Innuendo topics? I have had many experiences in which personal insight has helped my friends (IRL) through things. In my freshman year my girlfriend became close with my best friend, which I enjoyed as we could do things together, all three of us, without it being awkward. Eventually she broke up with me, and they slept together the next day. I was in shock but I quickly forgave them both. In hindsight this was weak of me but it's improved my situation now in the way that I am still friends with the both of them.

I cannot hear out of one ear. This has made things incredibly tough for me but I've adjusted to it throughout the years. I've talked to many disabled people and people who think the loss of something crucial will change their life, I help to convince them that, in time, everything will be okay.

If you were to be accepted, which topics of Innuendo would you be most comfortable taking part in? I would be comfortable talking about everything besides LGBT Issues.

How comfortable are you in discussing romance and other more personal topics?

> I have met complete strangers, became close with them, and have discussed their romantic and personal issues within a few days. I am open and available to talk to anyone about anything.

Will you actively participate in our help desks and discussion threads?

> Yes. I enjoy talking to people.

Do you understand that failure to participate in Innuendo inside and outside of our subforum is grounds for immediate removal from the group?

> Yes.

Nevieth - March 17, 2017, 5:30 pm

Some interesting applications so far! I'll be keeping this thread open for a few weeks, so don't forget to apply before it's too late.

I'm sorry to say there's no exact cut-off date, but I will give warning before it's too late.

I'll be reading through all applications in a little bit.

No?orious - March 17, 2017, 9:59 pm

Why would you be a good fit for Dawn Innuendo?

I've currently become extremely active. I'm a month off 21, been and seen a lot in my time. I've only ever been in serious relationships. My first relationship was at 15, long distance for 1 1/2 years. My second began when I was roughly 17, love of my life and have been with her coming up on 4 years in July. I'm extremely easy to talk to and I can usually relate to anyone on any level, I can honestly talk to anyone about anything. I enjoy taking my time out to help with issues and offer advice. I'm all for positivity because life is too short.

What previous experiences do you have regarding Innuendo topics?

I have more experiences and stories than I can put within a list, it's hard to think of them on the spot. As I've said, I've done long distance, I've been cheated on and fallen into depression and overcome it. Never got close to suicide, however I've had 2 mates who have and I'm always one to offer support. I've been in a relationship for almost 4 years now, travelled overseas with her, investing in a property with her. I've got a lot to tell and share. ?

If you were to be accepted, which topics of Innuendo would you be most comfortable taking part in? Anything to do with relationships, not shy at all when it comes down to it.

Suicide prevention and overcoming depression, including physical and mental health.

How comfortable are you in discussing romance and other more personal topics? Extremely, definitely not shy about it. If I can help, I'll include what I can.

Will you actively participate in our help desks and discussion threads? Definitely, always happy to offer advice within my areas of knowledge.

Do you understand that failure to participate in Innuendo inside and outside of our subforum is grounds for immediate removal from the group?

Yes.

Thanks for reading! PM if there's anything else I can include ?

Why would you be a good fit for Dawn Innuendo?

>Without going into "too much detail", here is a bit about myself: I'm a college student who like many, have had many experiences in life. What those experiences are is what will define if I'm a good fit or not. I've traveled for four 4 years with my family working throughout the United States. I've been exposed to a lot of cultures and subcultures a like and been in interaction with many of those groups. I'm turning 19 this month and only have had one true girl friend when I was in my tweens. It resulted in me being dumped in the midst of my depression which pushed me to become suicidal. After a time, I was able to recover which changed my worldview on that topic. I'm also from a religious household and was on the Christian path (According to whats taught, if you are "no longer" a Christian, you never were a "true" Christian in the first place) until I really really got into depth in viewing things from a different perspective and realizing that not everything is all black and white. Experiencing these things have allowed me to further understand things in my journey to...I guess to understand myself and the world I'm in. Joining Dawn I believe will help me to not only share the things I know but also to learn from others with similar intentions.

What previous experiences do you have regarding Innuendo topics? (Use this space to link all posts and threads you've made regarding innuendo.)

Can't say that I can think of all the "specifics" right now but I can give the things that come to mind.

I might have bunched up my first response but...as I've said, I had only one girl friend in my life. It was in my tweens and it was in secret. Her family also traveled like my family which is how we were able to get connected. But this experience was I guess the first door for myself in experiencing ones emotions, both positive and negative when it comes to connecting with someone.

Being from a religious family while being in a very Liberal, pro-LGBT state, I've been able to see both sides of this "conflict". It has taught me as I've previously stated that not everything is black and white but there is also points of views that are also grey and full of rainbows.

I've been someone whos been quite against online predators since I got into IT. After I got out of depression and "recovered", I've gone online and have helped others that I've met online, whether it's just a chat or social network site. I've helped people vent on their frustrations, have encouraged those who are going through tough times, and have helped some come out of depression...or at least been there as support for them. When you have gone through a tough situation, you sometimes feel a passion to help others also.

If you were to be accepted, which topics of Innuendo would you be most comfortable taking part in?

>As long as I don't have to give actual personal information for whatever reason (phone number, personal, address, etc), I'm pretty open to talk about most things. Am I am "expert" on all these things? Not at all which may be reason for me to keep silent on certain topics but If I have something to say, I won't be afraid to say it.

How comfortable are you in discussing romance and other more personal topics?

>Talking about other peoples situations? Always open. Talking about my own? I can give an idea of something but to go into "super specifics" takes time for me.

Will you actively participate in our help desks and discussion threads?

>I wouldn't apply if I didn't plan on participating so yes :)

Do you understand that failure to participate in Innuendo inside and outside of our subforum is grounds for immediate removal from the group?

>Yes, hopefully I'm not expected to give ALL my time but enough to acknowledge my presence that I am active? Yes.

Hipster Ariel - March 20, 2017, 6:56 pm

Why would you be a good fit for Dawn Innuendo?

I have been trying to be more active since for some time now I have been a lurker, I think I would be a good fit for the good because I feel like I would get along with the members of this group, especially in this sector since most of the topics mentioned are of deep interest to me. I'm a young mind myself just about to turn 20 so I'm living and experiencing a lot of things right now and talking to other people about it not only would benefit me but it could benefit others. I want to be part of a group of likeminded people that don't fear a good discussion and appreciate different experiences to learn from others.

What previous experiences do you have regarding Innuendo topics? (Use this space to link all posts and threads you've made regarding innuendo.)

I have not posted a lot of threads myself regarding my experiences on the topics, I tend to comment more on others threads apply what's said there to myself, however there's a couple experiences I would want to share with the group and topics which I feel I'm experienced enough to help others. I had a rough end to a relationship with my best friend, among other things distance was a key factor. I am very serious about mental health issues and suicide prevention.

Here's a couple links of posts and threads, not that many.

If you were to be accepted, which topics of Innuendo would you be most comfortable taking part in?

Relationships, Life, School, and overall I live listening to others and helping them in any way as much as I love getting opinions to get help myself.

How comfortable are you in discussing romance and other more personal topics?

Very comfortable, I love the idea of it.

Will you actively participate in our help desks and discussion threads?

I would, I'd love to.

Do you understand that failure to participate in Innuendo inside and outside of our subforum is grounds for immediate removal from the group?

100%

I know I don't seem like the most active member but trust me if I were to get accepted to this group I would do my very to help in any way I can, I love the idea of being in a group like this where I know I will find people to talk to and members that are interested in helping others. You'll find in me someone very loyal and ready to listen and contribute to the group in every way.

Even if I don't get accepted I will always be a fan, good luck everyone and good luck with this sector I really hope I get to be part of its growth.

Chique - March 23, 2017, 1:00 pm

Why would you be a good fit for Dawn Innuendo?

I'm currently becoming active again on here. My first relationship online lasted 1 year, she lived in CA and I half way across USA. And rest have lasted similar to that. I'm extremely easy to talk to and get along with and love helping people out.

What previous experiences do you have regarding Innuendo topics? (Use this space to link all posts and threads you've made regarding innuendo.)I haven't really spoken to anyone much on any topics due to most of the posts are trolls recently or anytime I check. IRL I have plenty of experiences I could share.

If you were to be accepted, which topics of Innuendo would you be most comfortable taking part in?

>Overcoming depression

LGBT discussions.

Relationship advice.

How comfortable are you in discussing romance and other more personal topics?

I'm quite comfortable with it, I've helped few people out in the PMs and talked about some personal things with few members that I won't name just due to it being personal and not sure they would like the business being through out on a public post.

Will you actively participate in our help desks and discussion threads?I will be as active as can be, I range from around 1-3 hours on HF during the day. Sometimes more, just depends how my work schedule is.

Do you understand that failure to participate in Innuendo inside and outside of our subforum is grounds for immediate removal from the group?

Yes.

Why would you be a good fit for Dawn Innuendo?

If I had to be vain for one application I guess this would be a good one to showcase that. I would be a good fit for Dawn Innuendo, simply because like everyone else I go through the same human problems. There isn't a day that goes by where I don't feel the pressures from life. I am 21 years old and have experienced my fair share of not only relationship problems (currently in 3year relationship), so I am quite familiar with the trails and tribulations.

Although, I don't have many publically listed threads tied to this topic - I can use other areas of my experience to help steer my direction of guidance.

If you were to be accepted, which topics of Innuendo would you be most comfortable taking part in?

Contentious discussion and debates.

How comfortable are you in discussing romance and other more personal topics?

I am quite open when it comes to romance and personal issues - as I see them as everyone having them therefore, being discrete and closed wont ever let you get to the root of the issue.

Will you actively participate in our help desks and discussion threads?

Hell yeah, it would certainly ignite the inner flame.

Yes, I understand and will adhere to these terms upon a possible acceptance.

Since we do most of our work either through public threads of PMs, activity requirements are really more of a starting basis than an actual rule.

You're expected to make new innuendo/ health wise threads and to keep the ones you already have open, active.

You're not required to post in the Dawn SF unless it's an innuendo specific thread that I've made, things like to-do lists and group updates. Innuendo is run differently from what most other groups are, we don't rely on the Dawn SF too much, and we're much more vocal and public with our happenings.

If this sounds up your ally please send in an application either on the thread or through PM.

I Have experience in relationship advice from marriage to dating, I'm 26 and have been married and have dated and got a good learning experience from years of being with someone. I have also been to counseling which helped me to understand what men and women go through and what they are feeling, and how to handle situations.

What previous experiences do you have regarding Innuendo topics? (

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5607277&pid=54689932#pid54689932>)I would mainly be interested in Relationship advice and helping others on the forum at the best of my ability and use the experience I have to help them in there situation.

Any Family Problems I could also be a great help with whatever they may have, or whatever they are going through.

Death of a loved one. We have all seen it and experienced it but its always good to have someone to talk to get us through this tough time. I believe I have seen enough deaths in my family and understand how to deal with it.

If you were to be accepted, which topics of Innuendo would you be most comfortable taking part in? Relationships mainly but if there is a topic I understand I could help with I will.

How comfortable are you in discussing romance and other more personal topics?

I am very comfortable and have no problem being open with others. Its best to be open and get whatever is bothering you out there in the air so it doesn't stay locked inside you and destroys you or becomes a bigger problem in the future.

Will you actively participate in our help desks and discussion threads?

Yes I will to the best of my ability

Do you understand that failure to participate in Innuendo inside and outside of our subforum is grounds for immediate removal from the group?Yes

Why would you be a good fit for Dawn Innuendo?

I love discussing about many topics and solving problems. My interests are wide spread and I hope to be able to use my experiences to contribute to the community!

What previous experiences do you have regarding Innuendo topics?

I have experience in helping others with various problems concerning relationships, emotions and identity crises and am an active mediator at my school offering help in settling disputes and dealing with personal difficulties and moderating discussions. Highly valuing discretion and trust, I will never tell the problems/personal details I am entrusted with to third. If it comes to problems, especially concerning relationships and identity crises such as depressions, but also other issues in general, I will lend you an ear (regardless of if I get accepted in Innuendo or not!)

If you were to be accepted, which topics of Innuendo would you be most comfortable taking part in? Relationship Issues of all sorts, I guarantee absolute discretion

Suicide Prevention and overcoming depressions
Intellectual Discussions and Debates, especially concerning ethics and philosophy, but also regarding many other topics

How comfortable are you in discussing romance and other more personal topics?
I am very comfortable discussing such topics and am pretty open with others. If you need somebody to talk to, I happily listen to you or share my personal experience!

Will you actively participate in our help desks and discussion threads?
I will give my best, else I would not apply ?

Do you understand that failure to participate in Innuendo inside and outside of our subforum is grounds for immediate removal from the group?
Yes, I do.
