Thread: No Game, No Life Zero Anime Film Slated for July 15

RainbowHentAi - March 22, 2017, 12:27 am

Quote: Publisher Kadokawa posted an advertisement for the No Game, No Life Zero anime film at Tokyo's Kokusai Tenjijo station on the Rinkai line before this week's AnimeJapan 2017 event. The advertisement reveals the film's opening date as July 15. The film will have a stage event at the AnimeJapan 2017 event on Sunday.

The film's returning cast includes:

Yoshitsugu Matsuoka as Sora
Ai Kayano as Shiro
Yoko Hikasa as Stephanie Dora
Yukari Tamura as Jibril
Yuka Iguchi as Clammy Zell
Mamiko Noto as Feel Nilvalen
Miyuki Sawashiro as Izuna Hatsuse
Rie Kugimiya as Teto

Atsuko Ishizuka is returning from the television anime series to direct the film at Madhouse. Jukki Hanada is also returning to handle the series composition, and Satoshi Tasaki is designing the characters. Super Sweep (Shinji Hosoe, Ayako Saso, Takahiro Eguchi, and Fumihisa Tanaka) are returning to compose the music at Kadokawa.

Yuu Kamiya's No Game, No Life light novel series already inspired a television anime series that premiered in April 2014. Crunchyroll streamed the television anime as it aired, and Sentai Filmworks released it on home video in North America.

The story of the novel series centers around Sora and Shiro, a brother and sister whose reputations as brilliant NEET (Not in Education, Employment, or Training) hikikomori (shut-in) gamers have spawned urban legends all over the Internet. These two gamers even consider the real world as just another "crappy game." One day, they are summoned by a boy named "God" to an alternate world. There, God has prohibited war and declared this to be a world where "everything is decided by games" — even national borders. Humanity has been driven back into one remaining city by the other races. Will Sora and Shiro, the good-for-nothing brother and sister, become the "Saviors of Humanity" on this alternate world? "Well, let's start playing."

Kamiya launched the light novel series in 2012 with his own art after illustrating another light novel series that spawned an anime, A Dark Rabbit Has Seven Lives (Itsuka Tenma no Kourousagi). Kadokawa released the ninth novel volume in August. Yen Press is publishing the light novel series in North America, while Seven Seas Entertainment is publishing Mashiro Hiiragi's manga adaptation

?????? - March 22, 2017, 5:01 am

I hope this ends up being good. Does it continue from where the anime finished?

VA Tragedy - March 22, 2017, 9:21 am

I must agree i would rather a season 2 as well, but ill take what i can get. Very happy they're doing something!

Never going to get a season 2. That is why they are finishing it with a film. Will be a good film though.

That is what it seems like so far.

No Zero is a prequel of how Tet became the new god. Season will be most likely funded by these sales.

No its prequel based off of the 6th novel.

I'm sure this is just the prequel for a S2, this is most likely their way to engage the audience to see how interested they are in the series as well as to milk out whatever profit is left in the event that it isn't.

Just waiting for season 2 honestly.. One of my favorite animes.

severos - March 25, 2017, 1:40 am

Oh come on guys, this anime has the potential for tons of seasons and you make a movie out of it D:< we should challenge the production studio in a game, if we win then more seasons it is, if they win then more movies <(o,o<)

Sadly thats not how it works. It also has to sell. If something doesn't profit, it likely wont continue.

Maybe we should start crowd funding for certain anime series?? just like they did with that neko para... damn totally forgot about that, going to check what's going on with that movie D:

Sad, I was waiting for season 2 since I finished the anime :(
But I guess a movie is better then nothing, except if it will be disappointment.

I read somewhere that the author is sick and won't be a season 2.

Neither is there existent manga material.

The series is based off of the light novel.

Crowdfunding is a good idea. It really shows the producers what fans want. It worked great for Little Witch Academia, and uh, Underdog... Pity Underdog didn't deliver though.

Wait, so you mean Underdog got crowd funded and never delivered? so they scammed the crowd or something??
Wondering if it'll be possible to suggest crowd funding anime series for producers, just no idea how they'll react about it.

They delivered, just not what fans were expecting. It was a decent animation, but felt much more like a prequel to something much bigger. The trailer had stuff that didn't end up in the OVA, which was really what everyone was wanting to see. A lot of people were disappointed. Also I screwed up the name, it was Under the Dog, not Underdog >.>

Well, guess we'll have to solve that problem, should we add milestones for the producers during crowd funding? something like:

-Another girl added to harm: +500$

-5minutes fan service: +100$

etc...

That would make some sense but will be a bit (way much) harder to track I guess. Unless we create United Anime Foundation (UAF) that consists of anime fans (surprise right?) who got enough experience to shape anime.

endlesstempest - March 26, 2017, 10:53 pm

i would personally just prefer a second season

Sorun - March 27, 2017, 12:07 am

I honestly wonder what it would be like if the entire industry hops on the crowd funding train. It would make funding much easier then having to depend on merch sells.

I think it'll make things go a bit more faster, not sure they'll have enough material to create if every other studio jumps on crowd funding. But really, the neko para OVA can be a good example if it came out as expected, if it's a success then I think some studios will start considering it seriously.

More pressure on studios to create quality animation and inevitably more quality anime in circulation. Whether thats a good thing in the long run is anyone's guess. I bet there'd be a few hidden gems that'd never make it off the drawing board.

Season 1 was amazing. But no season 2 so... hopefully this'll be life Season 2.

CoderLynk - April 4, 2017, 5:09 am

Cant wait for it. ^///^ Is it the continuation of the series?
