Thread: Web Dev Student, Site with 470 entertaining webm's

Lone - March 24, 2017, 6:58 pm

I started working on this before going to school, it used to look like this:

Spoiler (Click to View)

but since this past week has been my vacation I decided to redo it with some of my new knowledge. It now looks like this (2 different themes so far):

Spoiler (Click to View)

There are no ads or anything this is just something I am enjoying building on and playing with, I add new videos about every other day so if you want to check it out please do, <http://heinous.tv/>

I can tell you that I've never seen anything like this, especially that you have the ability to download the video directly, nice job man.

I'd also recommend checking out the Settings > You, I'm sure you don't want lorem ipsum in there right?

You should make it like <http://z0r.de/> instead so it auto plays.

It does, as soon as a video ends it sets to autoplay, I can add a setting to change it but I kind of like the way I have it.

This is pretty awesome dude, a nice site to get some easy giggles. Just a suggestion would maybe add a random button as i seen when revisiting the site all the webm's are in order. Never the less i'll keep this bookmarked, It's still great site and I will be looking forward to future updates!?

Menu in the bottom right corner allows you to shuffle the videos, thanks for the kind words :).

Some things need to change. Like the colors. Also maybe make the webm's auto play. It would make it a lot better.

<https://flatuicolors.com/>I can try different color options, there is another theme that is white. Videos are set to autoplay after finishing one video.

Great use of the material style, colors can be improved though. Also settings aren't really working.

That's still pretty nice tbh, impressed. Bookmarked it for when I have nothing to do but watch webms ahah.
