Thread: Looking For Moderators On My Cracking Forum

ProTechXS - March 26, 2017, 12:53 pm

I have yet to release my new cracking forum which will be released tomorrow or in the upcoming days.

But before I cut to the chase I need to find some moderators that will help me out.

You must send me an application with the following:

Why you deserve it -

How active you are -

How good you are at cracking (1-10) -

How will you support new members -

I will read over the application and then I will accept/decline you.

I will keep a total of 3-5 moderators.

Are you serious? You don't need 5, nor 3, not even 1 moderator on a forum that hasn't even been released. It should be just you, and you alone.

HF has 3 million members, with only 6 staff members (including Omni). That's 0.0002% is staff members.

I want a lot of staff members because of the amount of scammers there are

My last forum was a mess and I don't want this one to be

I'll do this for fun

I mean I'll always be online don't deserve it but I'm always online doing something

Everyday all day

I mean it's not that hard to crack to be honest I haven't really done it before

Vague question depends on what they need

3-5 moderators to moderate a handful of people & content. Don't be stupid.

Lool People I understand It's a lot but Hackforums isn't a dominating forum when it comes to cracking (no offense)

There are tons of leechers coming for accounts, configs combos and more and I need to be ready I understand it's a lot but I want to make sure it stays clean.

Yeah, out of the 3m+ members, HF doesn't have any leechers. The freebies/giveaway sections don't get thousands of posts a day.

What other said. Don't forget to create 10 or some fake account and start talking to yourself because you'll need em.

goodluck.

That is honestly the worst thing I've ever heard.

Wait till OP creates another thread asking how to get engagement on his forum. Engagement doesn't happen out of blue. There's has to be ongoing engagement on forum before others start participating in.

I have never asked for 'tips' to increase member registrations

1k subs is not something to brag about to be honest

There are plenty of ways to get engagement on your forum without the need of making fake accounts.

As others have said you should be moderator at first and then wait for more people to join before hiring people for staff. This will give you more opportunities to choose from instead of a small audience of people on HF.
