i ran something similar a while back and judging by how much effort you're already putting into this and your previous posts i can safely say you're a good successor.

good luck.

a few edits though, i'd throw some helpful threads like guides and tutorials into the original post, with titles and authors.

I was thinking of crediting you for the idea since I got inspired by your thread and thought to bring it back but for some reason I didn't do it, got distracted. Sorry and also thank you!

no worries man. if i wanted to revive it i would have changed the design as nightmare is no longer a group nor am i in the rebrand, and i would have bumped it back up already.

but yeah, just have a look around the forums for already existing guides and throw them in. like 5-6 should do.

Have to bump this for newer members. Please post any kinds of questions here.

Really great idea, I hope many can benefit from this! Looks like you already put work into the thread, it shows.

Thank you but sadly no one bothers to ask anything.
