Just a little something I'm doing to build my portfolio, you can check back to this thread every week and see a new UI that I made that week!

Week #1

The colours are pretty cool and your gradients are well used

I like the colour scheme, it's pretty nice. :D

I like the gradients/colors you used!

I do think that the timeline thing and volume are too small and too close too each other. (Also, the artist name is really really small, just viewed on my phone.)

I think there should be a bigger gap between the arrow and the text 'back'. But other than that it looks pretty OK.

I quite like it. I guess the ends of the words get a bit harder to read, maybe they could stand out a bit more, but really nice man.

Just updated it with week #2.

Check it guys, I really want some feedback on this! first UI i have tried in this style.

The first one.. the colors don't fit at all.
The second one.. Niice!

I don't like how the shoe is covering up a small part of the text. Maybe make it in the center of the "View More" and the "Air Jordan" text?

Week #1The color scheme looks bad IMHO.

It might look better if you switched dominant and recessive color because having yellow as a dominant color makes text somewhat hard to read.
