Thread: Demanding Refunds | Original Vampire | UID :: 2221254

Xeenon - March 27, 2017, 10:38 am

Hello,

I'd like to file a complaint about the user Original Vampire (UID: 2221254) for attempting to force members into refunding him. He has been contacting multiple users trying to blackmail them into refunding him. Original Vampire has been purchasing products and then, later on, demanding a refund, and if they were not to give him a refund, he would create an invalid deal dispute. Please bear in mind, this is not about the fact Original Vampire is requesting a refund. If the purchase was invalid, the product was broken or a third reason, then Original Vampire would undoubtedly be refunded. Original Vampire is trying to demand a refund, even though the purchase he made was final, and the product was in a working condition at the date of purchase.

The two* products he has attempted to demand a refund of are the following:

By purchasing these two products, Original Vampire has agreed to the following term in both products: "No refunds - all sales are final". Even though, Original Vampire has agreed to these terms, he is still trying to demand a refund from both of the sellers.

I am not aware if Original Vampire has demanded refunds from further sellers, but in case he has, then inform us, as none of the sellers should have to go through nor bother with an incident like this. I recommend you all blacklist Original Vampire from buying any of your products, as I would not be surprised, if he was demanding a refund for these products, and then, later on, leaking it for his own good. Please bear in mind, I have no proof of the leaking part, but I would not be surprised.

Picture proof is not attached, as I would not like to reveal any private messages without the approval of Staff.

But there is no proof he is blackmailing or asking for refunds? Or am I missing something?

You arent being truthful on your thread on how it work and i want a refund because of that.I assume that is also why you breached various terms of services by charge backing on PayPal? You are lucky the users in question are going to let you off with a slap on the wrist.

This thread is staying open, so people are going to kick back on dealing with you. Refrain from dealing with this user at all costs. He will finish the deal with you, and then chargeback later on.
