Does this still require me to change my text size? Looking at the GUI I had this exact bought for about an hour then I asked for a 50% refund and disabled the bot immediately

Also must I change my sensitivity in game and mess with tons of settings like before? I have used this bot about 3 weeks ago

Well your sensitive doesn't really matter that much as you can alter every little setting to your needs as every setup and pc is different.

IF you have keyboard and mouse plugged into console. That's pretty OP already.

No aimbot needed as your aim will be far superior.

You don't. You use a mouse and keyboard on console since you will be faster than everyone and you can rape them. Blizzard does ban people though if you use a keyboard and mouse.

The banwaves were for report based cheating. The program itself isn't actually detected. The people who raged hacked got banned (hence being reported) as confirmed by many users in our discord who actually got banned on the rage account but not the other account.

Be smart about hacking

Only thing holding me back from purchasing this is the hefty monthly fee compared to most cheats out there. I understand this is considered "private", but how unique are the builds per customer as obviously they aren't completely private?

Nope. The cheat is working perfectly. We have users using it for months on several accounts and they're still okay. Just don't rage and you'll be fine.

PMd you a lot more info :)

I think you should change the 0% ban, because the cheat was caught in the last wave according to the comments.

It's still like 1% of our userbase due to rage hacking.

I dont have access to psds or anything but yea.

Karos - April 19, 2017, 12:56 am

I wouldn't say 100% undetected, I used this for one day and got banned. I'm 100% sure I didn't get reported for being suspicious and besides, it's not bound to mouse1 but mouse4, so I occasionally press mouse4 to lock on using a legit config. Not ragehacking. Played about 3 games in 3300+ elo. Way to waste 55$.

They had two banwaves in the same week.

Galardowyn - April 19, 2017, 1:18 am

The 0% ban is clearly misleading . Only some private cheats are 100% undected and it's only a matter of time before they get caught .

That's something wrong you did. Users have been using it for months and nothing. Maybe you sucked before and cheat helped u do well so blizz analysed your play. People in higher levels can detect cheats much more easily.

I mean, no cheat is permanent, obviously they'd get patched every once in awhile but it's just a matter of if they wanna keep patching it or not

I believe what he means is that players who were using this tool were playing in a manner that made it obvious that they were using some sort of aim assisting software. They were detected by obvious gameplay, not by the anticheat.

I can't vouch for that one way or another, but that's what he means. What I will say is that the cheat itself is detected.
