

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: better than Gyazo or Imgur?

Football - March 28, 2017, 11:49 pm

" <https://imgh.us/> " I have recently came across this gem. I reckon its than Gyazo or Imgur when you want to turn any pic into URL because of how quickly you can do it.

what yous think?

Trappy - March 28, 2017, 11:51 pm

Does seem pretty simple, how'd you find it?

Football - March 28, 2017, 11:54 pm

(Mar 28, 2017 11:51 PM)Londonez Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Does seem pretty simple, how'd you find it? it was a necessity to find a free and hassle free for the evidence i had to provide for my scam report just before brother. ?

Malthael - March 29, 2017, 1:24 am

(Mar 29, 2017 12:02 AM)wy5uejtylyuh Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) imgur is simpler since you can literally just ctrl + v your clipboard and it uploads it.

Agree with this but it's still better to have some alternatives :D

VirtualFrost - March 29, 2017, 5:31 am

Imgur is already pretty simple, you can also just drag an image onto the website and it'll start uploading, pretty fast and supplies all kinds of links

Reporter - March 29, 2017, 5:37 am

Imgur with sharex is way to easy, I can press "PRT SCN", pick what I want and within 3 seconds so will I have an instant image link

Mr.Peanut - March 29, 2017, 5:39 am

IMO, nothing currently beats Gyazo for screen shotting. I'd still use Imgur over that site only because of:

1. How popular Imgur is
2. The aesthetic of the site compared to the one you linked.

It's the very same reason/concept why people still use Skype over XMPP or Discord or Telegram.

Plexle - March 29, 2017, 7:11 pm

"View images that you have uploaded(cookie based)"

Ummm I think the fuck not.

ohxerxe - March 29, 2017, 7:13 pm

I think gyazo is fairly easy as it is. Takes mere seconds.

