Who Soup - March 29, 2017, 1:48 am

Hopefully Maplestory and Runescape follow suit. It's becoming cringe how they're trying to stretch the game because of their long shelf life.

Power8 - March 29, 2017, 1:50 am

Catch me on the server "White-out"

My GT is 81Raider81 if you tryna catch these hands at the Dojo!

Well if we're giving games that title, I would say that Gary's Mod is. I love Gmod though lmao. It has a special place in my heart.

MAplstory needs to die. 30 classes deep, the game has been destroyed by mtx, impossible bosses, a huge gap in item stats to mesos worth, and inflation factored in. It's impossible for a new user to start.

Runescape has made some improvements, surprisingly. I enjoy the game, still. The end game bosses provide a challenge, without being impossible. It's still mechanically challenging. It's not everyone's cup of tea, though. But let's be 100% real. Most people who hate RS3 never made it past early-mid game lol

I enjoyed watching the comedy video's, where the chat was narrated by the anonymous voice over. I'll definitely be pressing F to pay my respects.

Stoke - March 29, 2017, 1:58 am

R.I.P.

Same here man. Habbo has pretty much been bleeding out for years now, how it isn't fully dead yet I have no idea.

What amazes me more is that there's still a marketplace for Habbo.

False King - March 29, 2017, 2:01 am

I honestly don't understand why you are "happy" of a game closing down. Maybe there were actually a few people out there who enjoyed playing it. If you hate it so much, why do you even spend time on hating it instead of just letting it be?

The Brazilian hotel still gets over 13k users online if I'm correct. They're far from dead anyways.

Ye it was cool back then as a like, alternative to Myspace with a forum and a marketplace to make it like a game. Now it's like, why?

I really don't know how they keep up server costs on that thing. lol

I feel like they'd need to like, ask users to donate money or something to hit a goal to hit end's meet lol

Here's some interesting graphs.

Runescape still averages like, over 100k users daily across both games, with them not being too far apart from eachother at certain times of the month.

http://www.misplaceditems.com/rs_tools/graph/

Maplestory on the other hand, all we can see is the Steam statistics..less than 800 player count peak using steam to play MS

<http://steamcharts.com/app/216150>

edit:

Aparently Korean MS is still popular. Read a few Reddit posts saying people estimate Scania has probably less than 1k players on at a time(2016)

Also read that in 2012 GMS only made 10% of Nexon's profit, and now they're probably less than 5%, and that's including the other games Nexon published in NA.

BR?ND?N - March 29, 2017, 2:20 am

R.I.P my Club Penguin girlfriend. I will never forget when we first settled into our igloo.

Ytube - March 29, 2017, 3:25 am

Vishnu™ - March 29, 2017, 6:23 am

Raf Simons - March 29, 2017, 7:26 am

Imagine being as pressed about a children's game as OP is.

Dean Winchester? - March 29, 2017, 7:27 am

Why do you care that Club Penguin was shut down? If you hate it then don't play it

What ?????

Rozen - March 29, 2017, 7:29 am

I'll miss it. I remember trolling around with it eons ago, I've gotten banned more times that I can count.
