Thread: Looking for Moderators on Body and Brain Health Forum

Thor Odinson - March 29, 2017, 5:23 pm

Hello! I am looking for moderators on my community here: www.wbp.io

The forums are brand new. I need some help adding content! The forums are based upon a book called Whole Brain Power.

If you have any knowledge about brain or body health (also golf, tennis, baseball, guitar, surfing, or any other sport) and you wish to get involved, leave a response on this thread.

Thanks for your interest!
Agate

We're getting hats made and also creating an online e-learning system for training the brain. The book has had thousands of sales and now it's time to turn it into a tribe.

this is an amazing idea! I love this.

Currently I am very serious about weight lifting and nutrition so i believe that i can be of help and can help other people with advice with lifting or their diets, etc.

please hmu

Your support is very much appreciated! There are many people out there who need this information.

Just take a look at the poor souls who have gaming addictions - I used to be one myself. This program offers a great solution for these problems!

Here's me showing our penmanship system of getting into the right side of the brain:

Yeah i used to be a gamur but decided to just go cold turkey and end it because i was just wasting my time.

Thats p cool tho, my handwriting is godawful so i might actually read more about that program.
