Thread: Negev and Revolver thoughts?

Just curious as to how many of you think the updates are good or bad on the guns.

I think the revolver was a welcomed change, but the negev is pretty much useless now. It's no better than the M249.

Still debating whether to swap the desert eagle with the new revolver or not. Time will tell.

Don't think it matters much since both never are used.

I am very hype for the Negev and R8. Negev = Laser
How is it like the m249

The Negev now sounds like a paintball gun, not a fan.

R8 is op as fuck again rofl

Don't use either of those in competitive so the update didn't effect me at all

The repair to the R8's firing rate will definitely bring it back as a alternative to the Desert eagle.

How I would argue that the damage for both should be roughly the same. The r8 being more mobile and spamable with less ammo, and the Desert Eagle being far less accurate when spammed. with more ammo. While both have the same damage output throughout the body.

The negev did not require an update at all.

Fair but laser.

It's significantly harder to hit head shots with the Negev now. It used to be pretty much spot on aim if you just tapped. Now it sprays pretty wide with anything but extremely quick taps that are spaced out. In spray, it acts much more like the M249 now than it used to.

Don't care about either, never use either.

For some reason I think the R8 will become this again
