Thread: New ARK update coming soon for Xbox

Big Nasty - April 1, 2017, 7:28 pm

If you haven't seen it already on PC, there is a new update on ARK: Survival Evolved that drastically changes the current metas. For example, the nerf on fliers renders them very slow (Cannot upgrade movement speed) and lacking in stamina. Also, vault-dropped bases are now pretty useless as they changed the size of vaults.

Some people, myself included, like the nerf as it brings land dinos back into the PvP discussion, as flyer's aren't very reliable right now. But I am also sympathetic to the people who breed flyer's because now the birds will no longer be worth as much.

I am interested in hearing the opinions of any ARK players (PC or Console) on this forum about this controversial update.

ARK is fun, but the literal definition of having no life and having a virtual reality. If your not on 24/7 oh well sucks for you because somebody grieved your shit or you got ate by a dinosaur!

Pretty much Ark to a T.

Kind of bummed out, spent the last weekend focusing on breeding some nice ptera's and an argy as well as wanting to prepare for the 3x event on easter weekend. I am curious what they do to balance out the nerf in regards to the other dinos. I don't believe this will be the last update for this situation and that there will be some things about it continued to be worked out.

Does anyone know when the actual release of the game is coming? Or is it just always going to be '(game preview)'?
