Thread: is LuminosityLink fucked|???

blackdark22 - April 3, 2017, 2:21 pm

LL has just been updated.

1. Unattended Installation Mode will now only work on PCs with your country code and language. On other PCs, the standard installation dialog will appear.

2. The installation dialog in the client binary now shows your serial key/email address
3 your ip address is now stored when using LL

Is these a problem People????

rsx - April 3, 2017, 2:21 pm

It's only fucked if you were using it for malicious purposes

iUpgrade - April 3, 2017, 4:56 pm

LOL haha

This will probably reduce their 70% of the customers/sales cause we all know the truth behind RAT's and purpose for being in this section.

lynnex - April 3, 2017, 5:03 pm

Now let's hope 80% of the users didn't read the update notes & started maliciously spreading.

Oh boy am I excited.

they are selling the product in a forum called "hackforums" in a section called "Hacking Tools and Programs ", well it is expected to be use for malicious purposes even with all the drama in the sales thread about rules and etc.. all bullshit for fbi and police do not arrest them.

PS: i do not support the use for malicious purposes, i'm just sayng what is obvius

Ohhhhhh gawd another one of these guys....

EasyPeasy - April 3, 2017, 5:13 pm

Lol, after Aeonhack and all, if you think he wants to get arrested, hell nah. It's understandable.

LL is fucked, simple as it gets. Instead of keeping their heads down after the nanocore developer got arrested and waiting until this all blew over. They went full out freak mode and made some really fucking stupid decisions that i dont think they can go back on now, but thats all down to them. Like bzrK said, its a program on a hacking forum, in section called Hacking tools and programs, the people who buy it for the main are going to use it for blackhat stuff (im guessing), i can imagine that sales for them will probably drop after the word gets spread a bit more

FIUTR - April 5, 2017, 12:13 am

I buyed this 10 day's ago and it's already done :(

steeda - April 5, 2017, 1:24 am same happen to me WAZIX lol ohh god i love this game.

Hecate - April 5, 2017, 1:26 am

I found a way to bypass Unattended Installation Mode in Luminosity. Should I report to KFC ?

I would otherwise you could face a ban from HF as it's against the rules to mess with members projects.....

Also it's the right thing to do morally....

I wonder what KFC is thinking after he read all about this thread comments ? !! where are u man !!! showss up!!

Imlerith - April 25, 2017, 6:41 am hiding like a pussy i mean cmonn PCs with your country code and language wtf??!! Imfaoo not even teamviewer has this shit, every1 should switch to orcus atleast armada has some balls, and not only that why is he still selling this shit on hackforums go and sell to companies and shit this isnt whitehat forums . net LOOL.

alesiox94 - April 25, 2017, 10:25 am what happened to their software?

robwilliams464 - April 28, 2017, 1:27 am

Exactly. These buggers market stuff with malicious functions. Claiming to be all innocent they come up with this "no malicious use". Pathetic.

yeah bro its great at first but now fuck LL i dont think i will be ho need this fuking rat

Zach_Farlow - April 28, 2017, 10:43 am damn this kills me i bought LL for 2 pc's now i feel like i was jipped but it was a great product all in all back in the day.

Anzee - April 28, 2017, 10:47 am

It began as a malicious piece of software and has progressively evolved into a legitimate remote management tool.

He obviously no longer needs your bad business.

True but i never went big like i wanted to i would always rat my Friends just so i could pop their Disc tray And watch their face expression. Most of the time it was priceless.

Acteda - April 28, 2017, 10:53 am

Damn I was about to start using it during the summer time, bought a life-time license and was making plans with my friends

I dont know what all of it means, but looks like i'll have to go elsewhere
