Thread: Good site for manga??

I watched the Shingeki no kyojin Season 2 premiere and it really motivated me to read the manga for it. I used to read it but the site I used was buggy and ad-littered. Someone have a site they can recommend? One where I can Subscribe for notifications would be a plus. Thanks from a major noob :P

Not sure about for sites but if you're viewing it on iOS I'd recommend MangaBird.

I've used it for about a year and it can send you popups and alerts when a new chapter is released, and it's database runs through all the major manga sites.

Ads are lite-weight mostly, and if you use a VPN/ Adblocker on your device it's practically nonexistent. Plus it gives you full control over what you download for offline reading and what's in your storage.

Depends on what you want, a manga reading site or anime streaming?

Also, you should create a account since you can bookmark which manga you're reading and keeps you from forgetting what chapter you left off :p
