Thread: Dispute with product "Bustabank" promoted by user vapefag uid=2619090

hopeforme - April 6, 2017, 7:44 pm

Hello,

I am a new user to HackForums and I am not very aware of site culture; to be cautious of ebooks; checking other member's reputation and warnings, etc.

48 Hours ago I had bought an ebook <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5587042> from vapefag who is promoting the product on HackForums. Thinking that the thread design and promotion and services offered was good, I bought the Ultimate package

However, I had some issues with the product and wanted to clarify it with someone on the support contacts, as "Full Support" was included and I expected it when purchasing the product.

Unfortunately, I was unable to get through to contact THREE OUT OF THREE support contacts on skype in 24 hours. After I managed to get +ve rep to post in marketplace and to contact the promoter (vape), the reply was deeply disturbing:

Thankfully vape had replied after 24 hours after I had posted publicly in the thread. However, as a promoter, it gives the impression that he himself has no faith in the product that he is selling, wanting absolutely nothing to do with it and wanting out ("please do not contact me"). This does not exactly inspire great confidence in the product.

I do not want to sales trash on the page itself, as it would be very mean, but I would really like to speak with the seller or developer of this product, and because I have significant issues with using the product, hope that I could get a refund as promised when I was making the purchase of the product itself. Even in this report itself, I am being intentionally vague as to my issues with the ebook, but I wish that I could speak to someone.

However, the lack of support significantly differs from what was promoted on the page, and this part itself is objective and factual.

I still have not received an acceptance of contact request or any word from the developers after 48 hours. I am very distressed right now.

Hope someone could help me or give a new user some advice.

Thank you so much for reading.

paid for support, did not get support, even promoter wants fuckall to do with the product he's selling, want to refund, will not touch bustabit again

thanks

it's very difficult for a legitimate new user to make a scam report. the system's mechanics all are working against me.

edit2:

the thread link and images can be found below! thanks so much Leroy Jethro Gibbs and oscast!

thank you so much riggs!! it's a really nice gesture of you and I really cannot express my gratitude enough!! it's so nice of you!! may you be blessed with good fortune for your good deeds and receive good karma :):)

i now have the necessary permissions to update this post with the appropriate multimedia! thanks everyone for your support and help!!

edit4:

I have updated the deal dispute database with the appropriate information. I believe that the promoter of the product, vapebag, will be here shortly

For the lazy people out there.

Just paid for your upgrade form regular to L33T.

Once your privileges are elevated, you will be able to submit an entry to the Deal Dispute database here: <https://hackforums.net/disputedb.php>

Your account is only 2 days old, so I recommend extreme caution in conducting any Marketplace trading affairs. Prior to purchasing you should always review community input on products/services thoroughly, trust nobody, and never buy ebooks.

damn that's really nice of you :)

and to op:

the product owner is in Canada so I believe he would be awake now. you see I wish I could provide support but I don't have access to the rocketr account or anything.

best of luck to you.

oh also, it seems like you're getting people to post negative rep on my profile, very amateur.

I'm trying my best to get him to give you support so maybe you could relax your ass a little ???

you're making it sound like I'm a piece of shit that's doing nothing.

Funny how you decide to address this dispute only after the OP is upgraded and has the capacity to proportionately respond.

OK, but the product owner has not replied to my contact request for what's coming to 72 hours. As much as I'm appreciative of your help to contact him, it is a fact that efforts to contact him not working. You cannot possibly blame me for being more and more anxious as time goes by.

Hey, I did not do such a thing! In fact, I saw that dude's negative rep on your profile BEFORE I submitted this DD to the database, and before you were notified via PM. The fact that he came to a conclusion that precludes even my knowledge is just... wow!

It's not very nice of you to accuse people without proof, much less a factually wrong accusation. Furthermore, the fact that someone else is able to provide incriminating information about yourself/your services that even I do not know of... does not reflect well upon yourself.

Thanks for your help in getting the original seller to respond. I also have the feeling from your replies on skype, and the above ss (the fact that 3 people have tried to contact the seller, and have come to you, and FAILED), that you yourself are a victim of his nonsense. Note that in the entire scam report, not once have I blamed you for anything, only the product. I have referred to you as a proxy seller, and not a "scammer". This is because I believe that you have not been acting maliciously in this DD.

However, as you are the person who represents the product on HF, there is no doubt that you will have to shoulder some of this, and/or have to take some form of responsibility. I believe that most would agree that is the right way.

I hope you could direct the original seller here so that he could see this and respond. I demand a refund as stated in the terms of the deal that I have purchased in your thread.

One of the usernames Siwel on the sales thread that OP bought from is in the above community alert.

But you can see here Siwel vouches for 'his own product' saying he purchased it

Now I don't wanna call anyone else on that thread a liar but plenty of users have addresses shown in their profiles that they ALWAYS use and none of them have the funds they claim.

You evidence reasonable communication between you and the individual you're proxy selling for, but not between yourself and the OP. The dispute was made against you. Until now, you made no effort to address that dispute.

hopeforme - April 7, 2017, 9:34 am

(Apr 7, 2017 09:20 AM)vapefag Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) op contacted me on skype yesterday

This is factually incorrect. You did not accept my contact request on Skype for 24 hours, until AFTER I had performed the following actions:

- Achieved getting a positive reputation so that I could post in the marketplace due to forum mechanics. (This is NOT easy as one cannot publicly ask for rep on this forum)
- Made a post in your thread, asking you to contact me

I did not contact you on skype yesterday - I contacted you the day before; YOU replied to my skype yesterday ONLY AFTER I posted a distress request in your thread.

Furthermore, I had taken the following pains before I was able to create this deal dispute in this thread:

1. Waited another 24 hours to give the product seller the chance to respond to YOUR attempt to contact him
2. A user who supported you/your product negative repped me by 3 for unknown reasons
3. Unable to post in the marketplace AGAIN
4. Had to post a distress thread in the introductions thread, where a kind member granted me back the +3 rep - cancelling the previous user's negative rep, putting me back at 1 rep to allow me to type the original writeup of the thread
5. Took significant pains to make the OP work due to forum mechanics restricting me significantly.

> It is only through my luck and good fortune that I was able to encounter Rigg's generosity, only then I was able to submit this thread into the DD Database and YOU being notified via PM.

Surely, your sarcastic tone and sardonic attempts to belittle my pains of even getting this thread set up show how little you care about my current plight.

Look, I know you're in a tough spot because I can tell that you're fully aware that the services you are proxy selling for are extremely dubious only after the fact. However, that's the risk of proxy selling, and you know it. If shit hits the fan, you are responsible, and it applies just as well in this case.

You use your reputation and namesake to vouch for the products you are promoting. Therefore, when the products and/or services are not up to standard, it is inevitable that the aforementioned will be consequently affected as well.

The product is in partnership with multi/scammers who look, i'm not saying you know about it or accusing you of being one as I really hope you aren't however the situation is getting worse the more I look at it.

Make sure you protect and check out who you are dealing with in the future.

Once again, I thank you very much for your attempts to help contact the original seller. As I repeat again, this dispute is lodged against the product, and not yourself, therefore I have only referred to you with terms like "proxy seller" or "promoter", and not accusatory terms like "scammer" etc. Even the thread title is phrased in such a way, in consideration for yourself.

Butt because you promoted and/or sold me this product, you need to be held responsible.

Unfortunately for yourself, you had made the mistake of leaving your own skype in the advertisement that YOU had set up yourself. I did not need to do any "digging" of any kind, although I am sure that with the help of some of the wonderful members here, it would be an easy task. It is my empathy for you that I could recognise that you were also in a tight position, therefore my wording in the original post is as such.

It is clear to all that as the promoter of the product, wanting fuckall to do with the product you're selling does not inspire great confidence in said product. Being unable to render support despite being the seller of such a service is just "lol" to most people.

It is unfortunate that you are unable to extend the same amount of empathy to me, having a sarcastic tone in earlier posts in this thread.

My terms to resolve this are reasonable and simple, all I wish is for a FULL refund as stated clearly on the terms and services when I had bought the product, the full $40.

I will be unavailable after this coming weekend, and will not be able to access the internet for a full week. Therefore, I have significant urgency issues for this to be resolved quickly.

If the original seller is able to provide a refund for the service, all's well and good, and vapebag you may have avoided a sticky situation.

However, in the worst case scenario, if the original seller fails to reply, I expect you, vapebag, to be the one who processes my refund - as you are no doubt earning commission from this arrangement as well. Then, you can proceed to obtain that refund from the original seller himself, I'll leave that up to you as you will be better connected with him and will be more suitable to receive a direct reply.

Thanks.

I had just pasted in the thread code and was supposed to replace all the skype usernames with the product owner's but I just forgot in that 1 part in busta thread :)

Also obviously I would provide support if I made the ebook and know about the product inside out, hence I wasn't supposed to leave my own skype username in the thread.

yea I guess this is truly unfortunate.
Thanks.

This post of yours makes me want to slap you.

a) I bought product from busta thread, I spam contacts available on busta thread, that's one issue. I have not blamed you once for this.

Intentionally HIDING YOUR SKYPE to PREVENT CUSTOMERS from getting support from a product that you sell, that's scummy as fuck. Why would you NOT want to leave your skype there to be contacted if things go wrong?

b) You have access to the product yourself. How can you not know about the product? Definitely, you could help a newer member out. You cannot possibly claim that you're selling an item that you've never personally tried before and can stake your reputation on.

Besides, your statement is a flat out lie.

This directly from your thread, and exactly what causes myself (and potential customers) to get the impression that you are an expert and/or have significant experience/proof/testing in the products that you sell.

You cannot possibly say that you don't know your product, WTF and yes, it's past midnight here too. I suppose we share similar timezones (Aussie?), so let me tell you this: I will no longer be available from Monday till the next weekend, so I need this resolved very urgently, hence this sequence of events. No, I cannot "chill my ass".

If I could be bothered getting out of bed and managing my tabs better I would probably find some stupid shit like vapefag being a multi but for now I only got his MPGH.

Ugh it's too early for this shit. I really hope vapefag is innocent in this but it looks like there is a new group in town for vouches plus a hoarde of hijacked accounts. Gave a neutral to an account I saw earlier that looked really suspicious.

The problem with vouches around here is they literally mean jack shit.

monetize it.. A vouch costs you 100 rep, and see where that goes.. I for one would be thinkin hard about a vouch for a copy (mine have been legit, but.. there's near zero cost proposition to it).

Funny. My day is pretty good. Just arrived home a couple of hours ago from a trip to London.

That thread has nothing to do with this scam report.

PM me if this affected you emotionally in some kind of way and I will be glad to help you with any psychological effects that have been triggered by my thread where I ask a simple question.

On-topic: I actually read the full thread and I like how OP is being professional.

Sorry guys for not acting professional. Added some dodgy members to my neutral list - if they fuck up in the future, this is your told you so.

Incapability is also somehow seriously involved with Nysta and selling products for Nystas multi accounts. All payments on Incapabilities products go to Cobra Sales if you pay with paypal. I don't believe this is just proxy selling - and Incapability has also vouched on a lot of these scam products in the past.

One thing to always note is the time of posts by these members as vouches or questions as if a thread has died and not in "view new posts" to get attention, that's when they usually ask for the bumps

This time however they are saying "I pmed you about this, looks very interesting!"

But on their previous 2 posts, on the same product just a different seller who was now banned

"Still profiting with this methods thanks so much cobra. Up 0.45btc"

"Bought this looking amazing and unique so far. Will update how it goes!"

Again more bullshit

"I've been able to use it for 2 days now and I am well over $150 in profit which is just mind blowing to me. It's really unique in my opinion because it explains how to do everything, the ebook is literally like 10 pages and the methods are just pure elite!"

All within 1 day. So how can they use it for 2 days?>

Now we get to this post

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5587042&pid=54476012#pid54476012>

"Finally bought it after seeing live proof from vapefag. I've already started profiting, it's awesome because you get right to profiting, no setup/waiting. Vouch from me so far, will show you all how well I do in the next few days!"

But he's already owned the script from the previous seller and of course saying he's making money already.

Because we know this peach dude is lying, it means that Vapefag knew he was lying too. Therefore it means he knew about this.

Besides "circumstantial" evidence, there is no reputation given between these accounts and therefor according to Hack forums Law, section 1, article 3 paragraph 37, we must drop all charges against the defendant around assisting ban evaders. The the other 4 will face 2 days in Hack forums court with 0 chance of avoidance. If they do not show they will be treated as enemies of the forum and will have to seek asylum on lesser sites until we declare war against those who seek to harbor fugitives.

When this happens we ask kindly that we join together for OP as a personal army via request by the Lord Almighty Riggs.

But my dispute isn't with regard to assisting ban evaders, it's a direct dispute against the lack of support as stated in the terms of deal ? (Had no friends, so gotta buy support to talk to!)

As the case with regard to the defendant's alleged assisting of ban-evaders is a separate accusation that is opened against the defendant through the discovery of new evidence by the Robot Investigation Squad, by law, I'm not eligible to be fired upon by the rep propelled grenade launcher ?

I hope. :P

Looks like someone's having a bad day. Not sure what happened in this thread in the above quote, it got deleted, but I guess it doesn't matter.

The original product seller has still yet to contact me.

In 24h from this message (4.42 AM UTC), if I have still yet to receive a reply from the original sellers, chicken065 or fibao.business, I expect for vapevag to refund me the $40 first, as I will not be available for the entire week beginning Monday onwards.

As vapevag appears to share a similar timezone to me, being "past midnight" as mentioned earlier, I expect no misunderstanding or discrepancy in the form of timezone coordination. As I will be sending him a message during the day, I expect no tardiness in the processing of the refund.

In 24 hours, if I have yet to receive a reply, I shall send vapevag a PM on Hackforums my BTC receiving address and I expect a refund of $40 USD worth of BTC. vapevag will have the liberty of haggling the refund amount directly from the original sellers himself.

Of note: After 24 hours as stipulated above, this would make a total of 5 days (120 hours) where I have unable to get any support, in direct violation of "Full Support Included" as of the Terms when I have bought the product. I hope that the "Refund Included" Term receives no such violation.

I will update this thread when that happens.
