Do you agree that you are available at the time of the tournament to play? I will be available. If something comes up though I will have to forfeit the game.

Tzuyu - April 9, 2017, 9:25 am

Perhaps you should move it to a weekend or a different time as a suggestion since most people in the west coast are unable to participate since school typically ends when the tournament starts in the east.

Looking forward to seeing what some of you can do.

Best of luck to all participants.

You DONT have to be upgraded to participate. Not sure why Bender listed that as a requirement.

SkyClouds - April 10, 2017, 7:15 am

If this was on EUW I would rek ya all. But sadly this is on NA, good luck to whoever wins then!:)

Have notifications on for @everyone mentions and you'll get it.

Chances are the tournament won't start until nearly an hour after that time, as members who signed up will be getting contacted to get ready for the tournament to start, challenge set up and stuff will be happening too. Just head home after school.

@Bender - keep in mind, if this reaches the player limit, keep a separate list called "Ringers" just in case anyone who initially signed up doesn't make it.

Then what better way to celebrate 4/20 than by getting enough money to buy a half oz of loud or an oz and a half of reg amirite?

What are those win conditions? First blood or first tower, OR 100 cs?

It should just be first blood ARAM style without backs.

... It is on Howling Abyss, you can't back.

And those conditions are literally the typical 1v1 conditions.

You're kidding right?

It's not at all. I've never heard of a 1v1 that's to either first blood OR first tower, let alone one that also allows 100 cs.
