Thread: My memory & disk is almost at 100% and my computer is running CRAZY slow

darkist - April 9, 2017, 12:35 pm

Been like this for a while, I can barley watch youtube videos with nothing else open or running. It doesnt make sense.

I cant use sony vegas or after effects or anything i need to use. Im not sure if im infected but i was reading about what i could do online and that was a suggestion.

which is horrible and it keeps reminding me popping up saying low recovery image spacespace

My recovery partition disk (D:) is at 644MB/15.8GB left,

My windows C: disk is 796GB/914GB

My memory is at 60%

My cpu is at 35%

If anyone could help me in anyway or point me in the direction to get my computer running fast again please reply to the thread and i will reply with whatever information you need.
thank you

Use something like Process Explorer to find out what's using all of your CPU/RAM. You can learn about the different programs you're not sure about through Google.
