Thread: Unofficial Launch of Pixl - Webmasters & Entertainment

Muddy - April 9, 2017, 6:15 pm

This is an unofficial launch... I'm looking for a couple people to register and check out the site daily and feed me suggestions. I've just got the theme set up and server optimized. Later on, I'll start adding plugins and hiring a web developer to make custom features for the site but for now I have NewPoints up and running.

But yeah, if you'd like to join I'm giving awards to people that registered during beta stages. Please help by giving me suggestions. Domain and theme will be changed later.

SQL error when i try to register

Faith Connors - April 9, 2017, 8:05 pm

I like the theme, i like the logo, i think it can take off if you dedicate some time to managing it. Im lying in bed nearly dying right now but ill sign up tomorrow and poke around. Ofc dont use a free domain but you said its temporary so thats cool.

Good luck.

Oh, not really a suggestion but look into copyright problems because theres an edm artist who goes by PIXL so if you decide to monetize the forum/name then make sure there is no problems with copywriting or whatever. Maybe im just being paranoid idk im tired.

Remove those stars and use userbars (easiest method to remove them is to make transparent 1 x 1 pixel and replace the star image)

VirtualFrost - April 10, 2017, 3:04 am

I love the theme and you seem to be focused on your niche, there's no marketplace(finally, most forums for some reason feel the need to add one) and you don't have other random topics.

I have one question though, why the name PIXL? How does that come into Web/Entertainment, sounds like a domain for graphic design.

EDIT: like the other guy said, you need to fix that MySQL issue asap, it's showing all your table names.

EscortPay - April 10, 2017, 4:22 am

Wasn't that a leaked theme ? Get your own custom theme made dude otherwise its awesome

Lapjeskat - April 10, 2017, 10:48 am

Also cannot register. Looks nice though!

Faith Connors - April 10, 2017, 11:36 am i didnt try to register yet bc of everyone elses problems with it but legit did u make ur name siphon is this some kind of attempt to advertise a hacking forum without promoting the advertising part

Was having a problem with an approved MyBB plugin so I'll have to report that right away... Yes, the domain is temporary and it'll be changed to something nicer when I officially launch. It was a free domain I picked up.

Pretty good, but...

I think you need to make it a bit more mobile friendly..

Also please don't let this did like your last webmaster forum.

EscortPay - April 10, 2017, 6:17 pm

Another suggestion , The postbit doesn't looks that realistic . Make it align to the left side instead of making a long width of whole page .

Yeah we are ditching the horizontal postbit and I'll be forcing classic postbit soon. Thank you ?

The last site I set up was just a MyBB copy on my server. It was never intended to go anywhere or serve any other purpose than as a demo site.

This one however will be permanent ???

So I upgraded my server today and worked on it for about an hour. The site is running a lot faster and a permanent block storage solution. A couple bugs were fixed and the postbit is forced to classic mode. Narrowed my domain list down to 5 so I'm still deciding on a good domain name. So far everything is looking good :)

Okay. Also, I think you guys will need a more efficient way to gain user's.

Looks pretty good. Big fan of the sleek darkish look you have going on. Functions and looks pretty good for an un-official release.

I've got a big spending budget for advertising. When I choose a domain you'll hear our name often :)

Design seems pretty good. Too many sections tho, too little activity. See if you can make it responsive on mobile I know you're using mybb.

read this thread it will give you a general idea of what else is wrong

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5599476>

also this section: 'Website Security' might wanna rename it, not sure if hf will like it once forum grows a bit.

Well the site isn't officially launched and I'm still working on a lot of stuff but once we officially launch we'll have paid advertisements on 8 different forums in our niche. I don't think there are that many sections - as they are general in their area and only have sub-forums to easily divide topics. Plus, I'm expecting an abundance of visitors and registrations as I work on my SEO plan.

I don't think a 'Website Security' section is any bit intimidating to HF or any other websites I end up advertising. I'm not competing with anyone other than myself to become a better webmaster :)

Thanks for your suggestions ?

When you do finally decide to fully launch this community, post as many resources as you can. People generally won't be joining a blank webmaster forum, they usually head to those kinds of communities for help on projects they're working on.

Yes, yes there'll be content before the site is launched. I'm going to be writing some tutorials and sharing some helpful webmaster resources. I'm also going to pay about 10 people to write unique content on the site that's SEO friendly and professional. That way when I start to advertise there will be fresh content on the forum and plenty of reading to do :)

I don't mean to be rude or anything but I believe you're missing the whole point of 'forum'. But lets see how your launch goes we can discuss what I mean later ?
