Clockwork Planet

Synopsis (Courtesy of MAL):

Quote:"The Clockwork Planet"

One day, a black box suddenly crashed into the house of the high school dropout Naoto Miura. Inside it was a female automaton. The endless cycle of failure and success.

The world that does change and the mankind that does not change. At a time where reality and fantasy are screaming, the encounters of these two make the gears of fate move!

I'll save this space for a review in the future potentially. However, from watching the first episode, the animation is very nice, however the story so far is a bit fast paced and the MC is a bit iffy. We'll have to wait and see how it unfolds ;)

I've never watched Gundamn but I feel like I won't like it.

Same reason. I don't like mechyyy.

Wow she sucked his finger. I approve.
