Hello HF Member,

I hope everybody is fine.I am new at HF. Last night i tried to copy a folder from a portable device.But the owner of the portable device was watching my Computer screen continuously.I failed to copy things from his mobile device.is there any secret copier software? Can we create a secret program that copy the files automatically using commands?

I thought only HF can help me so i am here. Can anyone help me?

You could make it into a batch file and use some free software to keep it fully hidden, since many people would be smart enough to notice you running something on CMD in the background.

Just use Google a little, it's not that hard to find at all.

Huh, I already tried this software/cmds but it works only on Removeable Drive. Is there anyway to copy data from Portable Drive?

A portable drive and removable drive is the same thing. You can even use xcopy from network drives.
