

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Need advice creating a web site with html+css vs wordpress

darkziosj - April 9, 2017, 10:41 pm

hi everyone i want to learn how to create web sites but i don't have alot of free time, i want to be able to create big web sites like (shopping websites, cool desings etc) but im kinda confused in what to focus my learning process on, alot of sites recommend learning to create websites in wordpress, others to start html+css from scratch, some advice would help me alot, thank you.

SREE - April 9, 2017, 10:44 pm

u should learn php+html5+css3 , for a start then u can move in to wp development

Charger - April 10, 2017, 4:40 am

You need to learn PHP before you make a shipping website or anything big.
There are tons of tutorials on the internet; just google PHP.

Kickupx - April 10, 2017, 8:58 am

(Apr 9, 2017 10:41 PM)darkziosj Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Wordpress is a messy API. Or atleast it was in 2015.
So coding for Wordpress can not be done while learning PHP.

However it is possible to create entire quality websites without any coding if you want to put out some cash.

darkziosj - April 10, 2017, 11:03 am thank you everyone for the advices, i want to be able to create big websites from scratch, i know there are some web pages that create other web pages just with drag and drop but i think they are very limited.

Kukulele - April 10, 2017, 3:32 pm

Here start from here

<https://www.codeproject.com/Articles/759094/Step-by-Step-PHP-Tutorials-for-Beginners-Creating> Everything explained