I love the HF environment, make people uncomfortable, I love the market very much, and I very much needs to be done, but I do not have permission to post a thread, hoping to give me a permission, give me a chance, but also give you a chance.

Familiarize yourself with the community. It's quite evident you are new, the requirements were implemented for a reason.

EDIT: Welcome to HF.

Yes, I really want to buy service here, but I will not cheat, I just want to find the custom service only, but I do not have permission to publish the thread in the market, unfortunately, who can tell me how to be released in the market

To gain access to the market, you have to contribute to the community by helping people or answering questions.

When you do that, you will eventually (not guaranteed), receive reputation points. You need positive reputation to post in the marketplace.
