Hack Forums Feedback – Intro

Some of you know me, some of you do not. As you can see from my Hack Forums display name, my name is Lookin. I am posting this feedback thread due to the nature of me feeling like I have gotten to know the forum rather well. I wanted to share my journey with the community, perhaps, give something back in a manner of text? I registered on here on the fifth of October, 2016. I am still a very, very new member. I came on here mainly to look for cheats for games. Oh boy, did I come across something a lot more beautiful than just a forum filled with game cheats. This is the place, where I met a lot of amazing people, where I expanded my knowledge around so many subjects, in a matter of so little time. There are a lot of different personalities on here – we have the mature and helpful, we have the funny types, we have the caring types. Hack Forums is one of the biggest forums on the Internet. The name gives it away as a forum related to hacking, but oh my, is it something so much more beautiful.

Hack Forums Feedback – Unity

Hack Forums is being deemed as a hacking forum .. based on well, the name. Hack Forums is indeed the go-to forum for discussing hacking related activity, but it is also so much else.

Omniscient was asked in an interview many years ago, what he, himself described Hack Forums as, and it is honestly the most descriptive and true definition.

«HF is a computer enthusiasts site dedicated mainly to computer security but also has general interest topics where like-minded individuals discuss everyday life topics like movies, politics, school and other aspects of our society.»

We aren't a unity. We aren't a "oneness", we do not strictly sit in a circle and discuss hacking. We have political stands, we have personal life discussions, we talk about our educations, we talk about science, religion, philosophy and so many other topics. We all are different, and that is what makes the general discussions on here amazing.

We have a lot of kind people on here, and that is not only in the matter of people who share their fortune of money, but also people who give away their knowledge, talk, help each other and just take time out of their day to post in either yours or my thread. A simple and respectful hello can lead to a million things. Most of the beautiful words in the entire world have already been used thousands of times, but that doesn't make them any less beautiful. Share your happiness, your greatness, and your gratitude. Show your positive side, and keep the negative side away - only that way, will this forum become an even better place than it already is.

Hack Forums Feedback – Sections

Rules, Announcements, News and Feedback

When not in The Lounge or in any of the groups I am a part of, I tend to spend most of my time in this section. In this section, and it's sub-sections, you tend to come across most of the same questions/suggestions over and over again.

I love reading threads inside this section, though. People share their feedback, people share their suggestions and it's generally a very nice place to read threads, as people tend to maintain a quality tone within this section, due to the matter of fact, that this is probably the most browsed section by Omniscient alongside the rest of the staff management team.

HF News

You guys are doing an amazing job running the HF News. Never let anything take you down - I know you have come across your challenges, differences and hard tasks, but you have always pulled through. iHydra, I won't forget the chat you and I had a few weeks back. You really shared some valuable information with me, and I respect everything you have done, and everything you are planning to do in the future. You have accomplished something amazing, hopefully, one day I can perhaps share my knowledge and experience as a member of the HF News team.

The Lounge

I tend to spend most my time browsing The Lounge. Sadly, there are a lot of trolls in this section, those who don't know where to post, so they tend to post in the lounge. There are people who simply post within the lounge to seek attention, and then there are those rare people who actually post valuable information, and/or a good and interesting thread.

Crypto Currency

One of my favorite sections on this forum. A lot of people who have a very broad knowledge in marketing, investing and cryptocurrencies. I recently got into cryptocurrencies, and would it not have been for the people in this section, then I would never have been seeing the profit I do today. Thank you all within the section.

Science, Religion, Philosophy, and Politics

I stalk this section A LOT. I tend to not post in there, as I mostly see people being ripped into pieces for having their own opinion(s). People are allowed to have their own opinion, but sadly, a lot of people judge them heavily based on what their religion, political stand or belief is. I wish this section wasn't as biased as it is being put as, as a lot of people tend to stay out of this section, as they don't want to be ripped a new one.

Hack Forums Feedback – Members

The people I am mentioning now are perhaps not people I know, but people I would like to give a shout, as they are wonderful. They are doing an amazing and amazing job in their position, whether it be a staff member, a group owner or just a casual browser on Hack Forums.

Omniscient – I know I have only been a pain in the ass. I have sent you a lot of meaningless and time wasting messages, but I only do what I want is the best for Hack Forums. I love the fact that you take so much time out of your day to help, take part in threads, and actually just interact with the community. You take a lot of time out of your day to make Hack Forums a better place, whether it be by doing maintenance work, by being a part of the various discussions on the forum or by getting rid of users who should not be on here. You care about Hack Forums, it's like your kid, it's your life's work. I respect you for that.

Minimalist – You are an amazing contribution to the staff team. You take so much time out of your day to make sure the community is safe, whether it be by toxic users, people who may be a threat or even a third thing. You are so caring about this community, and you do everything YOU can to make sure we are all in a good place.

Eagle 95 – There is not a whole lot other to say than what I wrote next to Minimalist's name. You and Minimalist are doing an amazing job maintaining this forum. You take so much time out of your day to do all this volunteer work on making this forum a better place.

iHydra – You are 'that guy' who runs HF News. For some reason, you don't get credit enough for the number of hours you spend on releasing a new edition of the HF News weekly. You are positive, even though you are so pressured. Your work on here is extremely appreciated among the community, you really need to know that.

xadamxk – For all the amazing scripts, all the knowledge you have shared with the community. You have done nothing but being a positivity to this forum. You may have come across some wrong turns, and gotten into the wrong alley, but you need to know; everything you have done, and are doing on here is extremely appreciated. You have done something most people would never have dared, and you are very, very appreciated for it.

The users listed above are the people I would like to mention due to the fact of their position on here, and everything they have done in the short time span I have been on here. People listed below are mentioned as honorable mentions because they have helped me in one way, shape or form on here.

Idk how you've been here just 6 months and do a feedback thread, either way, can you explain why you have half your threads "deleted"? Are you too afraid to use the JUNK feature on them?
