Thread: Find what torrents have been downloaded over you IP!

y.flicka - April 12, 2017, 9:07 am

I recently found this really handy site which shows you what Torrents have been downloaded over someones/your IP. Could not find any threads about this sorry if there are already I just thought there are many who still don't know about this.

Your IP is set by default. Hope I could show something new to some of you. ?

How far back does it track your torrents? I downloaded a torrent just under a month ago and there is nothing there.

It has been a few months since I have DL'd any but my list also appears empty.

I am not sure on how far the website does track back to.

I have a feeling it is checking against active peers on popular torrent trackers and looks for matches. It won't find anything retroactively. It will only turn up peers that are actively seeding but not necessarily downloading. This is why seeding is dangerous because your IP is added to a tracker list.
