Thread: I created a web comic, what do you think?

C?rrupt - April 14, 2017, 9:59 am

Hey guys, so I created a small web comic and have been posting them on reddit, I'd just like some creative criticism and your opinions on some of my illustrations / art style!

Thanks man, I like short get-to-the-point jokes, because I often lose interest if a joke is dragged out too long. But yeah, I'll take length into consideration, thanks!

I like the art style. But I have to say I don't find this one funny.

This is fucking awesome. Apply to HF news homie. Keep up the great work.

Which platform did you use?

Really silly & simple but interesting meme skillz. Made me laugh, good idea mate as far as I know pepsi always had those funny moments in most of their ads as some are even banned as they have made a lot of fun on coca cola, stay positive & make some more memes. :)
