Site Name: Forum Authority Site URL: <http://forumauthority.com/>

Site Description:

Forum Authority is a general discussion forum. We currently have a variety of categories to choose from, where you can participate in discussions. We also have many features such as a powerful credits & awards system, custom upgrades, user moods + more! Here you have the opportunity to meet new people, learn something new, find unique resources & tutorials, win contests & prizes, receive freebies and be given advice or help.

Thank you for reading.

I'm a member of this community, pretty nice.

NurSpec - April 14, 2017, 1:11 pm

I really like the theme but I say this with all due respect, it looks like just another general discussion forum.

"All-in-one community" sounds like every forum ever. I've never understood why people reinvent the wheel. <---- acknowledge this advice; find a niche or spend time on another project that'll provide more success.

I'd rather be honest... than lie, I hope this helps!

Just curious, was this an old project that you just recently re-opened? Or have you only managed to get just over 1000 members in 2 years? I ask because the administrator account is from 2015.

Much appreciated on your opinion. I can understand why you say that, however, I will be working hard to hopefully branch us off from the typical general forum niche and provide a bigger and better platform for everyone.

In all honesty, I'd rather stick with this one, it's a site I'm passionate about and dedicated to. It may not be that successful, however, I enjoy the run that it's having and I'm doing my best to at least get the site acknowledged. Although thank you for the advice and honesty.

The website has been through ups and downs, however, this has been a continuous project or even a hobby. Although now I'm more serious about bringing the site up.

I know what you mean, I'm glad to see that you have a newfound enthusiasm for your project. That's really all you need in a project, is the drive to work hard and the will to succeed. Best of luck with your community.

should really slow down the image so we can actually read it lol

Couldn't agree more! Much appreciated!

I will most likely replace the preview images with new ones of the site, so I will take your advice and slow the slideshow in the next design.
