

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: How to reverse engineer AddMeFast's badness

V for Vegan - April 20, 2017, 11:34 am

Foreword & Warning

In this guide we will be using AddMeFast to boost your website ranking over the competition. First, I would like to point out that I know this website is awful and this guide will revolve around that. Please do not use this website to try and boost any of your social media accounts or websites, as it will have negative affects on anything you use your credits on Getting started

Getting started on this guide takes 5 minutes, and will take less than 2 hours per day to have a huge impact on your search engine ranking (SERP)

First, you need an account on AddMeFast. You can register with my referral link [\[Register on AddMeFast Link\]](#) or you can Google 'AddmeFast'

Once you're all set up with an account, go to this [\[Link\]](#) in another tab and let that do its thing in the background for autopilot points. To clarify, the link is: <http://addmefast.com/websites>

Once that's ticking, you can choose from the options on the left to gain points. I recommend the 'Google Circles' and 'Facebook Likes' on dummy accounts.

Direct links to register for: Google+ account and Facebook account

Alternatively, you can use aged accounts for better results. YouTube views are best for freshie accounts.

Efficiency

If you'd like to promote something, such as your own website, Facebook page, or so on, do so on your account. Paste a comment about your website after liking or sharing, and visitors will come.

You can also add a bunch of people on the Facebook account to be spammed with friend requests from people clicking 'suggested'. Liking the pages makes you seem legitimate, and you can put your website etc in a status at the end of each day.

Whilst getting points, you can let more tabs tick in the background to apply negative SEO to your competitors even more to make the next part more efficient. This is kind of a preparation, though it is not necessary.

If you want to do this, Google 'Automatic Backlink Generator' - I recommend using the websites located [\[here\]](#)

Improving your SERP rank

Once you've optimised your website for the keywords of your choosing, we are going to apply negative SEO to your competitors.

It takes less than 2 hours to get 1.3k+ points, that's 700+ hits. We do this by performing 75 actions to claim the daily bonus whilst letting the websites tick in another tab. The daily bonus alone is 500 points, and getting that brings in about 700 points.

Now that you have the URLs of the people in the search you've targeted, add them to the 'my websites' list.

You should put the CPC (Cost per click) to 2 points. The visitors will drip this way and it'll be the most cost-efficient setting, giving you 700 or so visitors in less than 2 hours.

You can also do this to Instagram, Facebook, YouTube and so on accounts for negative results.

Why Does This Work?

This works because AddMeFast uses a little popup to add the visitors, clicks and stats to the accounts that people choose to promote. All of the traffic coming from AddMeFast is 'referred' by this spammy, horrible (in ranking eyes) place. The link is something like add.mf

This counts as negative SEO, and before doing this you should read the next section so you don't do anything blackhat.

Disclaimer

This is to be used on people that have applied negative SEO to your website. If someone has cheated their ranking by lowering yours, you should do this to retaliate- no other use for this guide is permitted.

Doing this to legitimate, hard-working websites is completely immoral and neither I nor this guide shall play any part in that. I'm pretty sure it's illegal, too; therefore, I accept no responsibility for loss, damage, or consequences for following this guide.

I also do not condone to use of this website to boost your social media or website. This WILL harm anything that is loaded into the 'My websites' list.

Thank you for reading. If you enjoyed the guide, please re-read it and make sure you understand it, as not doing so could harm you. Please leave a comment on what you think or what could be done better etc. See you all later!

Null - April 21, 2017, 9:31 am

Great Guide, would be worth the time you put into.

Who Soup - April 21, 2017, 9:40 am

Learned a lot, thank you for the share ?

V for Vegan - April 21, 2017, 10:11 am

(Apr 21, 2017 09:31 AM)The Sage Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Great Guide, would be worth the time you put into.

(Apr 21, 2017 09:40 AM)Who Soup Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Learned a lot, thank you for the share ?

Hey, thanks for reading! I thought that this was going to go missed, haha garada - April 24, 2017, 8:31 am brilliant idea, may i try it, because i have lot addmefast points