Thread: Scammed totally \$200 by Cryptic™ UID=716331 and Armada UID=952566

yammy0115 - April 23, 2017, 12:29 pm

Profile link to these to guys:

Cryptic™ UID=716331 <https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=716331>

Armada UID=952566 <https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=952566>

$150 scammed by Cryptic™ and $50 scammed by Armada

Being scammed on 22/4/2017

I was looking for neopets hacking service in order to unfreeze my account and Cryptic™ found me by email and I contact him through skype. He said he can provide me the service for $100 and can get the target information in 2-3hours.

I paid him through paypal and waited for many hours. He didn't reply me at all and I was very sad as he scammed me.

A few days later, another guy (Armada) contact me through skype and can provide me the same service. He consider $50 to help me as I was being scammed. Then Cryptic™ suddenly found me again and request me to pay $50 more in order to give me the info and said i lowball him. I told Armada about it and he said that I was wrong and Cryptic™ was not a scammer. He also vouch for Cryptic™ and said he was a good leader (Cryptic™ used to be the leader of the group - Brotherhood). He suggested me to pay the $50 to Cryptic™ and he will then refund the $50 that I already paid to him. After I paid to Cryptic™ again, both of the two guys disappeared and didn't reply me again.

I was so surprised that both of the two guys had high rep and vouches so I believe in them. I was a newbie here and I can't imagine that guys with such high state in the forum will do this. I was extremely angry and sad about this. Therefore, I sincerely hope that the admin or the others can see this and give punishment to them if possible.

I know you may think I am stupid, but that neopets account means a lot to me and I really need to get it back. Therefore, I risk a lot of money to get it back and unfortunately scammed by the two guys.

This dispute is invalid. You have no proof that you're speaking with the Cryptic or Armada from HF. For all we know you were scammed by a scumbag imposter.

That means nothing. You need to prove that those skypes belong to those members, whether it be via PM or skype username. You were clearly scammed by imposters (same guy).

James Burnham - April 23, 2017, 12:33 pm

You were scammed by an impersonator. Verify with PMs on hf next time.

Post proof of their skype names. Seems like you were scammed by an imposter. Sorry for your loss.

Hahaha and you were randomly approached by another guy.

It's obviously the same guy man. This is on you

You need to show us that Cryptic PM'd you that skype name to contact. The same applies with Armada.

Doesn't seem like Cryptic, he's a good dude.

Either way, sorry for the loss. Be more careful next time.

pm the actual people on site before dealing off site.

also i would recommend to stay away from the marketplace if you're new to hf since you'll most likely be targetted by other scammers

Fortunate - April 23, 2017, 12:43 pm

Always ask for PM confirmations when dealing on Skype.

Chargeback on pp since that's not Cryptic. Also, what email did he use to contact you? and the kid is from Philippine.

Pulz - April 23, 2017, 12:48 pm

There is no PayPal buyer protection for money sent under "Friends and Family". Best you can do now is open a dispute for an unauthorised transaction.

I believe that is your best bet.

bzr? - April 23, 2017, 12:51 pm

Briefly reading over that Skype conversation with Armada it is obvious it isn't him. You should have verified who they were by PMing them on here.

he could easily chargeback by calling paypal and claiming seller would only take it as friends and family and he didn't know etc etc

Yerp, I've never had an issue with a seller than I couldn't get refunded with a phone call. If you're not hurting for money, give it a few days so it takes it out of his pocket since he will probably spend your money soon ?

Hash G. - April 23, 2017, 5:47 pm

Tbh I doubt it'd be the real Cryptic. He doesn't really talk like that on skype and irrc doesn't have an avatar.

Armada - April 23, 2017, 6:36 pm

Was not aware I spoke any of the Asian dialects. ? If I did, I would have translated Orcus to it already.

You got scammed by an imposter, sorry dude.

Cryptic nor me would scam anyone, let alone for such minimal amounts.

$50? really? Thats pretty much an Orcus sale to me, I have no reason to rip you off.

What were you trying to buy from "Me" anyways?

\\Edit:

The guy claimed I had access to the HF User Database. Awesome.

- Second look, the scammer screen capped my profile pic from the forum, same BG colour. My Skype ID has a white background. as I used my original avatar, not a screen capture. ?

Please provide Skype IDs.

Cryptic and me are Both Canadian Born. We dont speak Chinese.....

BOTH of these people have mandarin symbols in the names or type.

Neither of us speak this language. should have been red flag #1.

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5570284&pid=54294056#pid54294056>

People impersonate me all the time and I always warn people I never do deals on HF

If someone on the internet contacts you out of the blue, your first instinct should be to verify your actually speaking to the person that they claim to be....BY CONTACTING THEM ON SITE...

Second of all....I AM NOT A HACKER. DO YOU SEE ME OFFERING HACKING SERVICES ON SITE? NO.

I've dealt with Cryptic before.

This is an impostor of both Armada & Cryptic. And once again this is why you always deal on-site.

It can be a very disorienting and very disappointing experience.

I hope this will be your only bad experience here in dealings. And if needs be, you can feel free to PM me about a transaction you are considering on making, I would be glad to give my Opinion on it. Normally I would say fend for yourself, but I dislike people getting scammed by people using MY identity.

Cryptic and myself both have very decent reputations in business dealings, and I for one intend on keeping them that way.

In a bit I will shoot you a PM with some advice on better business dealing in the marketplace.

But I want to note one LAST thing about all of this.

Even the System Admin, Omni himself directly has said to people "Simply do not do deals on this site"

I have always considered the Market place like one of those Mythic Bazaars from the old Persia (Think Aladdin), where you can find anything and everything, including the worst of the swindlers, and scammers.

It would be advised you look upon the Marketplace this way as well. ?

Looks in wallet

I got 2x $100 bills, and just spent like $80 at Walmart buying more veggies for my garden.

TF do I wanna scam someone for $50 for? I got quite a few problems, but in general finances are not overall a large one of them. Why would I ruin my reputation as a seller, and notable member for a few bucks?

My awards are worth close to $2k alone. ??

I came into a bit of money once, so decided to do the intelligent thing and put it in the bank. On the way there I cut through a park where I was approached by a guy drinking out of a bottle that was in a brown paper bag. This kindly fellow told me he was actually my bank manager and if I gave the money to him, it would be in my account in three working days.

Now, I thought this a little strange at the time, because the person I normally deal with at the bank is female and doesn't smell of urine, but the guy said he was my bank manager, so who am I to argue?

My funds are a little late in clearing, but at least it's something to look forward too.
