What are some of your favorite opening and ending songs?

Just finished Yuri on Ice! and the opening song was one of the big reasons I kept watching the show.

Haikyuu OP 4 and OP 5 are some of my favorites as well. Both are sang by the same band, Burnout Syndromes.

Because Gundam. Not sure if these are my favorite but they are for today. Gundam in general has so many good soundtracks that it is hard to choose.

Be serious guys, best OP EVER

Best outro

I've always really liked Stereopony.

Another one of their ops

Anything that isn't Death Note.

Cheese Doober - April 26, 2017, 8:44 am

The ending of 3005 by childish gambino music video is pretty good. Not sure what song it is, I believe it's some "secret" track

Tohka - April 26, 2017, 8:53 am

Same I enjoy yuri on ice opening. That reminds me that I gotta finish that series. Was on episode 6 or something ;_;

Maybe not so unexpected since it's my favorite show, but Neon Genesis Evangelion has a really really good opening and it's just that + one of the final songs that are played during End of Evangelion that got me to watch it. It's really iconic and while it may seem somewhat outdated compared by todays smoother animation style, it does a very good job of showing you a ton of things about the show that you don't quite understand which in my opinion makes you want to watch it just to find out what everything means.

In general I love how the Evangelion series uses quick flashing imagery to make you curious and keep you thirsting to find out more.

Don't let this post distract you from the fact that Naruto marries Sasuke.
