Pixl is officially launched and has changed course to a MyBB and webmaster promotion/resource forum. Our purpose is to help new MyBB users and webmasters start, maintain, and grow their forums. We are going to keep up with the latest MyBB plugins, skins, and other resources.

We have Forum promotion

MyBB & Webmaster Resources

MyBB & Webmaster Tutorials

Forum Management

I plan on offering free hosting for MyBB boards and forums later on. As well as releasing exclusive themes and custom plugins to all my members.

We've got new forums added and I optimized our server. Everything was paid on the 1st of the month so here goes another month of work :)

They do, but it's quite inactive now as far as members. Pixl has a new approach at expanding MyBB. We don't just focus on myBB though, we also focus on webmaster promotion

So far you're doing decent however more attention/time should be on your forum instead of marketing this early. You're still using a pre-made (ripped) theme from ages ago. If you want people to take this project seriously you need to invest a little into the uniqueness of your site (at least a custom theme), especially now that you're tailoring it towards general webmaster. Anyone with knowledge of that niche isn't likely to join you because of those attributes.

Edit: Also please get a better looking domain extension, if not a "mainstream" .com tag at least a .io or something trendy lol.

Your domain extension needs to change, or you can't go anywhere in the long run.

Good luck with the forum, but it looks and feels generic to me.
