LuvXo72 - May 2, 2017, 1:41 pm

Looking to make $500 quickly and I've decided to resell SEOClerks.com services to small businesses but the question is where the hell can I find businesses that want my services and what kind of businesses? I emailing 100 emails per day to yellowpages businesses but no responses yet.

Try local companies. In person. Nobody likes people spamming their inbox with shitty SEO offers.

Learn how to do the SEO services yourself and offer a gig on fiverr. Make a website and use your SEO services to get it well-listed on search engines.

You can't go to companies in person?

Then it's not that you can't do it, it's that you're too lazy to. Sounds like running your own business

(reselling or otherwise) isn't for you. Try seeing if McDonald's needs any fry cooks

Then you can't "make $500 quickly" if you dont want to put in the effort.

Right now your motivation is need based. It is driven by a fear of not meeting your expectations for yourself. This is effective but not sustainable. If you want to really be a consistently effective person, you need to get rid of the idea that you can be lazy a lot of the time and still maximize your potential. Being successful requires a lot of humble frustration, facing failure without becoming a failure, "pointless" repetitions, and consistently putting yourself in positions where you are being challenged. These are hard things, but like proust says: "through suffering we grow." Become aware of what you want - the eaiest way to do this, is to commit to what you are interested in, but you can also get lost in things that are even bigger and greater than yourself, i.e. becoming passoniate about an idea or an activity. As a smart person, you can just convince yourself, that you are absolutely certain about what it is you want to achieve -- only then, will you be able to suceed.
