Thread: Regarding Negative reputation

edwinwilmz - May 3, 2017, 5:53 am

Hello All

I have read the regulations and i can't understand about the negative points.

will my negative points stay forever or i can re-earn it?

can anybody explain? please?

The only way you can gain reputation is by someone giving you it, you cannot ask for reputation either. Your negative reputation will stay forever unless you are given positive reputation by other members or if "Orgy" edits his reputation. Follow the rules and dont be a retard, you'll soon gain some.

Upgraded users can give reputation points. You just got -3 points from someone for posting link to a ponzi scheme. You can see it by clicking on your reputation.

Not if you keep posting referral links for a ponzi schemes. Stop hinting for rep.

I'm really that smart, I mean really, i'm some guy named dagger dick on a website.

but if you can't understand how simple plus and minus reputation works, you really need to get off the internet as a favor to all of us.

i'm not hinting, just clarifying my doubts. that's all see, knowing and clarifying are not meant that i doesn't know. in that case, are "I'm really that smart, I mean really, i'm some guy named dagger dick on a website." keep saying that you are naive. is there any point in that? then you need to get off first.

He did and the help doc doesn't teach you how to earn rep.

You can seek to resolve your differences with those who give them to you, but you cannot ask for them to change it. Just be more high quality helpful and people will give you positive reputation.

You can read more about the reputation system here.

P.S. I can tell you now Orgy won't change his rep on you. Just move on.
