

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: [\[Discussion\] Busou Shoujo Machiavellianism](#)

Agramon - May 4, 2017, 3:17 pm

Busou Shoujo Machiavellianism
(English: Armed Girl's Machiavellism)

A/N: Its great if you love characters that are strong and already has a backstory to them. The girls are tsunderes and it's also somewhat comedy.

Episodes: Unknown
Status: Currently Airing (5/4/17)
Aired: Apr 5, 2017 to ??
Premiered: Spring 2017
Genres: Action, School, Shounen

Synopsis:

The Private Aichi Symbiosis Academy was originally a high school for high-class girls. When it became co-ed, the girls, out of fear, asked to be permitted to bring weapons to school. When that was enforced, a five-member vigilante corps-like organization called the "Supreme Five Swords" was also formed.

After many generations, the five swords eventually became a group which corrected problematic students, and the academy started proactively accepting such students in order to correct them.

Nomura Fudou was sent to this school after being part of a huge brawl. What will he do when the only options he has after enrolling are being expelled from that school or being corrected the way the rest of the male students there were...by being forced to dress and act like a girl!

Preview:

[Video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=RU4RnBcNs3U>]

MAL

Yui-Senpai - May 4, 2017, 3:20 pm

Looks hot, ill add it to my big list of things to watch

Black Hole - May 4, 2017, 3:29 pm

First two episodes were interesting.....It's really lost it's appeal to me with the last three episodes.

They've become a bit too strange for my liking and I'm not finding a very deep story that keeps me engaged.

I've come this far so I'll keep watching.

Esdese - May 4, 2017, 5:34 pm

watched the first ep and looked gnarly, will finish the rest if I remember

Zenomhunter - May 4, 2017, 5:39 pm

Watching it, pretty good...one of the animes I look forward to watching every week...